ENEMY'S MORTARS 'WALKED' . . .

Marines Describe Border 'Hell'

DONG HA, Vietnam (UPI)—"I tell you it was hell," the limping Marine said. "We tried to outrun their mortars, they were 'walking' them toward us and we tried to outrun them."

He was lucky—he survived. Many of his buddies in the 3rd Marine Division Company fell in the initial contact that triggered the two-day battle for a string of Leatherneck outposts along the northern border of South Vietnam.

Early yesterday morning, he and members of his company started out on what they thought was another routine patrol from their border strongpoint of Con Thien. The patrol had been warned of heavy concentrations of North Vietnamese troops moving into the area just below the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ).

"We got hit first about 9:30," another wounded Leatherneck said. "At first it was only light sniper and automatic weapons fire. Then it suddenly started coming in all around us."

The company was walking through the heavy brush of the rolling hill country about a mile north and east of Con Thien when the mortars and automatic weapons opened up on them.

"We weren't overrun," emphasized a bandaged sergeant, "because we didn't have time to set up a perimeter of defense. They were in all among us and a lot of it was hand-to-hand fighting."

One wounded lance corporal was said to have played dead for four hours while the North Vietnamese troops moved around him. Before they left, he was able to drag himself back to safety.

Another Marine came in with a bayonet wound from a hand-to-hand fight with a charging North Vietnamese soldier. But he smiled as his leg was being bandaged and said, "you should have seen what I did to him."

Several of the wounded swore the Red troops were wearing Marine uniforms, helmets and flak jackets. Others claimed the Communists acted like they were under the influence of dope as they charged into the Marine fire and kept coming even when repeatedly hit.

Other wounded Americans said the North Vietnamese were using the American M16 rifle, subject of continuing controversy because some U.S. soldiers say it is prone to jam in battle.

"I know of one that didn't jam," said one wounded Marine. "I'm certain the bullet that hit me was from an M16. I know the sound of that gun anywhere."

WHAT IS IT?—Blanche Yates (left) and Lynn Sestak, both of Larkspur, and both 8-years-old, captured this rare bloom on film at the Marin Art and Garden Fair yesterday. They and thousands of other onlookers saw exotic blooms galore and unusual art at the fair, which will continue through tomorrow in Ross. (Independent-Journal photo by Bob Hax)

There's One More Day For Art, Garden Fair

Strolling guitarists and dancing by the Marin Civic Ballet were the magnets yesterday at "Fiesta del Verano," the 22nd annual Marin Art and Garden Fair, as 7,823 paying guests passed through the Spanish-arch gates.

Cooler weather helped raise attendance from the 5,696 visitors Saturday.

With 1,761 attending opening night Friday, attendance has totaled 15,280 so far. The number is down from last year's 21,302 for the first three nights, but the fair runs an extra day this year. The fair closes at 10 p.m. tomorrow.

A picture page of this year's fair is on Page 10, and fair winners to date are listed on Page 3.

Fairgoers can see Lola Montes and her Spanish dancers on the amphitheater stage at 8:30 p.m. An organ concert at 7 p.m. and a folk dancing performance at 7:30 p.m. will precede the feature event.

Tomorrow, closing day of the fair, the major event will be an "Accent on Youth" variety show by the Golden State Show and Band, a young people's group from the Sacramento Valley which has toured the eastern United States and Canada.

The "Accent on Youth" show has been advanced to 7:30 p.m. so fairgoers will have time to see fireworks displays around the county later.

Also scheduled tomorrow are a 1 p.m. concert by the Terra Linda High School Band, performances at 1:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. by Eddie the Clown, a period fashion show at 3 p.m. by Fashion Collectors Lts., a ballroom dance exhibition at 5 p.m. directed by Mrs. Bari Frohlich, and an organ concert at 7 p.m. by Emory Stevenson.

Food Strike Ends

HONG KONG (UPI)—Hong Kong leftists ended their four-day general food strike today by allowing a flood of foodstuffs to cross over from the farmers of China's Kwangtung province.

MIDEAST SHOTS, CHARGES TRADED

Suez Battles Heighten Tension As U.N. Buckles Down To Resolution Adoptions

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Israel charged Egyptian troops today opened fire with mortars and machine guns at Israeli troops across the Suez Canal in a third consecutive day of Middle East war cease-fire violations.

Egyptian and Israeli forces clashed Saturday and Sunday along the canal and blamed each other for starting the shooting. But the most violent fighting came as United Nations delegates from 122 nations began voting on General Assembly reolutions aimed at settling the Arab-Israeli conflict.

On the eve of the delicate U.N. maneuvering, the Egyptians said yesterday the Israelis committed the cease-fire violations and thus was "threatening the world's peace and security."

The Israelis, who said they suffered 14 men wounded in the weekend clashes, claimed Egypt started it all to win votes in the U.N. General Assembly consideration of action on the Middle East. In Jerusalem, Israeli officials announced Sunday they will allow Jordanian refugees back into the west bank of the Jordan River which Israeli troops occupy.

ARAB REFUGEES

The problem of Arab refugees of three Arab-Israeli wars loomed large at the United Nations. Informed sources at Jerusalem said Israel was urged strongly by friendly nations to start solving the problem immediately.

But the Israelis also announced the start of occupation money for the sections of Eygpt, Syria and Jordan their troops held. The action was seen by observers as hardly likely to lessen anti-Israeli feeling.

At the United Nations, after two weeks of often bitter speeches, the delegates settled down to decide if any of five resolutions on the June 5-10 war would receive the two-thirds vote needed for passage.

Arab support was thrown today to an 18-power non-aligned power resolution calling on Israel to withdraw its forces to postions held before the six-day Middle East war and leaving other issues for later settlement by the Security Council.

REPORT TO ASSEMBLY

Foreign Minister Adnan Pachachi of Iraq told the General Assembly the Arabs would prefer either a Soviet or an Albanian resolution roudly condemning Israel and would vote for them. The Albanian measure further condemns the United States and Britain for supporting Israel.

Failing passage of thees measures, Pachachi said, he was ready to vote for the non-alighed measure. A Latin American resolution coupling Israeli withdrawal with cessation of a state of belligerency by all parties, and a U.S. measure he described as dismissed as unacceptable to the Arabs.

Fireworks, Pancakes, Parades

Fireworks will bloom in the sky tomorrow evening from north Marin to the southern shores of the county.

In the north, the fiery display will begin at 9 p.m. at Bel Marin Keys, following a day-long show of decorated boats, a water skiing exhibition from 10:30 a.m. tc 2:30 a.m. and a band concert beginning at 6:30 p.m. by the Hamilton Air Force Base band.

15TH EVENT

Fireworks in central Marin will be at Neil Cummins School in Corte Madera beginning at 9 p.m. The display will end the 15th annual Larkspur-Corte Madera Twin Cities Festival which includes a street fair on Magnolia Avenue from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The Independence Day celebration in Marinwood begins at 8:30 a.m. with the annual volunteer firemen's pancake breakfast and will continue with games, a swimming meet, ice cream social and watermelon feed.

In Mill Valley, the Hamilton Air Force Base band will play in the city's parade which begins at 11 a.m. in the safeway parking lot on Miller Avenue and concludes in Lytton Square.

The most unusual base for fireworks will be in Sausalito where, beginning at 8:30 p.m., they will be fired from a barge anchored offshore — unless high wind forces cancellation of the display for fear of endangering anchored boats.

FAIRFAX PARADE

Fairfax will have a parade beginning at 9 a.m. followed by two Little League baseball games and a ball game for adults with a 16-inch ball.

There will be children's games in the afternoon and a "bring-your-own" picnic with coffee and hot charcoal provided by the Fairfax Parks and Recreation Commission. A street dance from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m. will feature live non-rock music at the parquade in downtown Fairfax.

3,000 Reds Flee After Long Battle

Artillery Still Pounding Marines' DMZ Positions

COMBINED AP & UPI

SAIGON—U. S. Marines halted an infiltrating force of about 3,000 North Vietnamese regulars yesterday in a savage battle that cost more than 200 American casualties. Communist artillery followed up the attack today by hammering at the Marine base.

A U. S. Marines spokesman at Da Nang listed Leatherneck casualties as 58 killed, 34 missing and 125 wounded. He said 86 North Vietnamese had been killed. Commanders on the scene said more Communists may have been killed or wounded in counterstrikes by U.S. planes, artillery and naval guns.

A Marine sergeant at the battle scene told a newsman: "Last night's missing Marines became today's dead ones."

U.S. spokesmen said the Marines suffered "nasty losses" in blocking and crushing the greatest Communist effort in two months to drive into South Vietnam across the border Demilitarized Zone (DMZ).

ELITE UNITS

About 1,200 Marines battled the elite units of Hanoi's 325B Division, often in hand-in-hand combat, Marines said. They held the Communists until Lt. Gen. Robert C. Cushman, the Leatherneck commander in Vietnam, brought into play a massive display of American firepower.

About 4,000 rounds boomed from his artillery. Marine tanks rumbled up and blasted the North Vietnamese strongpoints. Leatherneck planes sprayed the Communist positions with fiery napalm. U.S. Navy destroysters offshore pumped in more shells.

Leathernecks said the hand-to-hand fighting grew thickest when the Communists stripped dead Marines of their uniforms and tried to flee from the American firepower.

SOUTH OF BORDER

South of the border, the war brought other action.

On the Bong Son Plains about 280 miles up the coast from Saigon, about 600 men of the U.S. Army 1st Air Cavalry Division caught about 300 "main force" Viet Cong near a fortified village.

The Americans pushed the Communists back toward another 200 U.S. troops set up to block the guerrilla retreat.

Incomplete reports said 54 Communists were killed. U.S.

Holiday Toll Goes Over 400 Mark

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The July 4th holiday traffic death toll passed the 400 mark today at the start of the long weekend's most dangerous hours.

A grinding crash on U. S. 66 near Flagstaff, Ariz., sent the fatality count shooting to 400. Police said five persons and possibly six were killed.

A United Press International count at 11 a. m. EDT showed at least 424 persons had died in traffic since the holiday began at 6 p. m. Friday.

The breakdown:

Traffic 424
Drownings 97
Planes 37
Miscellaneous 47
Total 605.

Texas led the states with 41 traffic deaths. California had 36, New York 27, Illinois 24, and Ohio 18.

Millions of Americans had to return to work today, but they were expected to be back on the highways in fresh droves by late afternoon, on their way to one more day of holidaying.

Creek Work Compromise Hopes Cited

Donald R. Frost, Marin County Director of Public Works, expressed hope today of a settlement of disputes over Corte Madera Creek flood control financing, but said the project still will be delayed "30 to 60 days."

Frost issued the mixed report today upon returning from two days of talks last week with officials of the Army Corps of Engineers in Washington. Marin Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen accompanied him, but remains in Washington.

The two went to the capital to protest federal demands that the county pay $40,000 for the diking of private lands to be filled and an additional $55,000 for land enhancement in Fairfax and San Anselmo, which are not yet in the flood control zone.

Frost said Gen. H. G. Woodbury, director of civil works for the corps, and his staff were to consider the county's objections by comparing them to diking and land enhancement arrangments in other federally financed flood control projects, then decide by the end of this week whether new arrangements could be worked out.

While hopeful of some switch in the federal position, Frost said any changes would delay for a month or two scheduled opening of bids on the first phase July 13. The original bid opening date was June 14, but the financial dispute and a

French Complete South Pacific Nuclear Tests

PAPEETE, Tahiti (UPI)—Beaten by Communist China in the race for a hydrogen bomb, France scientists completed their summer tests ahead of schedule by exploding another nuclear device yesterday.

The nuclear device was set off from a balloon over the Mururoa atoll in the South Pacific, 800 miles southeast of Papeete. It was the third French nuclear explosion within a month.

The three explosions this summer were scheduled to be completed July 14 but Communist China's successful hydrogen bomb last month apparently speeded up France's program.

Sausalito Pupils' Bus Breaks Down

A bus returning 60 Sausalito pupils from Mexico broke down early today 23 miles south of Bakersfield, Asst. Supt. Joe Amato reported.

Telephoned at 3:30 a.m., Amato sent a second bus to pick up the pupils and 11 teachers and parents with them. Bus driver Willis Hallock left Sausalito at 4:30 a.m.

The first bus was due at 7 p.m. today at Richardson Bay School, but the relief bus may be up to two hours late, Amato said. The school office will remain open, so the children may telephone their parents when they arrive.

The pupils, members of the school's Spanish club, have been on a two-week trip which was to take them as far south as Mazatlan.

Meredith Nears Goal For March

PICKENS, Miss. (UPI) — James Meredith began the last segment of his "march against fear" today, his ankle bandag and his white hat set jauntily for the last 22 miles of the trek.

Meredith announced yesterday he would end his walk at Canton, which has an 87 per cent Negro population, rather than go the remaining 25 miles to the capitol at Jackson.

Four Hurt As Car Hits Metal Poles

A Marin City driver suffered head injuries when his car veered off the Highway 101 northbound ramp to Mill Valley and struck several metal poles at 10:35 p.m. Saturday, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Officers said the driver, Handy Harns Eskue, 41, of 271 Drake Boulevard, and three passengers were injured.

Eskue and Donald Gilbert Kennedy, 24, of 35 Woodland Avenue, San Rafael, were thrown from the car by the impact, officers said.

Eskue was reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital. Kennedy, who suffered a possible concussion, was treated at Marin General Hospital and sent home.

George M. Westin, 16, of 1116 Western Avenue, Mill Valley, who suffered a fractured left leg, was reported in fair condition today at Kaiser Hospital in San Francisco.

Officers said another passenger, Harvey Fourshey, no age listed, of 271 Drake Avenue, Marin City, suffered an ear injury but was not hospitalized.

Man Is Sought In Attack Try

A 35-year-old San Anselmo man has been charged with attempting to rape a 14-year-old girl near Fairfax last Tuesday.

Larry Gene Harper of 280 Redwood Road is being sought on an arrest warrant issued by Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. of Marin Municipal Court. Bail is $2,750. Harper allegedly gave a ride on Miracle Mile to the girl after they learned they had a mutual acquaintance.

She told sheriff's deputies that he drove her near Sir Francis Drake Boulevard at White's Hill, then attempted the rape. They struggled, she said, and he threatened to kill her but drove off when she screamed.

Police found her soon after walking along the road. The girl also of San Anselmo, suffered bruises on the right side of the face and neck, investigators said. She was not seriously injured.

Reagan Says War Should Be Pressed

NEW YORK (UPI)—Gov. Ronald Reagan of California said if he were president, he would not have the war in Vietnam to worry about as a 1968 political issue. He said he would "step up the war and get it over with before '68."

"I have insisted for a long time that our goal should be to win," Reagan was quoted as saying in the current issue of Newsweek magazine, "and I think you win as swiftly as possible."

"I don't think anyone would cheerfully want to use atomic weapons. But the last person in the world that should know we wouldn't use them is the enemy," Reagan said. "He should go to bed every night being afraid that we might."

Reagan is one of several presidential possibilities who gave their views on the war in the article. However, Reagan said, "I am not a candidate for the presidency." He said he was speaking as a "private citizen."

Band Festival On Mountain Draws Crowd

Operators of the Six Day School in Fairfax, which teaches the ways of the occult, could give no estimate today of profit from the weekend band festival they held on Mount Tamalpais.

Estimates of attendance at the Mount Tamalpais Theater ran from 600 to 1,000 persons on Sunday by Jack O. Perry, assistant park supervisor to 2,000 persons on Saturday and 2,500 on Sunday by Marin sheriff's deputies. There was a $2.50 charge for those who listened to a line-up of booming rock bands, which included Big Brother and the Holding Co., Country Joe and the Fish, Sandy Bull and the Congress of Wonders.

WAIT-AND-SEE

Fairfax city officials today were taking a wait-and-see attitude toward the "school," after checking on it Friday.

Fairfax Police Chief James Orr reported that Andrew Hollingsworth, director of the organization, said it was not a "school," but that about a dozen persons gathered each evening at the house to prepare themselves to take part in the more formal school which will be opened in Sonoma County.

The "school" is located at 144 Toyon Road, in an area which would require a variance for operation of a school.

Fairfax building inspector Lester Britton said he checked the outside of the house and the area in which the "school" is said to operate and found no one there on Friday. "There seems more hearsay and ballyhoo than things going on," he said today.

Both officials said that there had been no complaints about the operation.

Martha Wenner, treasurer of the "school" last week told the Independent-Journal that she and others operated a free school from person 18-30 to teach Life, Love and Wisdom and that 84 students were enrolled.

ONLY ORIENTATION

Miss Wenner said today that there were now no students at the Fairfax location, but only "orientation," for a few, in preparation for the opening on July 16 of the formal school at Top of the World Ranch, three miles north of Glen Ellen in Sonoma County.

She described the Mount Tamalpais fund raising event as "the finest — the most happy and joyful."

Sheriff's deputies and state park officials said there had been no incidents to mar the rock of the bands and the "shuffle of feet," as park official Perry described the dancing.

Peace March To Follow In Mill Valley

A contingent of Mill Valley residents urging "a prompt peace in Vietnam" will march tomorrow behind the annual "old time" fourth of July parade on Mill Avenue.

Alan W. Barnett, of 100 Coronet Avenue, said he started organizing the peace march on Friday. "I simply got the telephone calls going, and it got started from there."

He said he expected 75 to 100 marchers to participate. They will form at 10:45 a.m. in the Safeway parking lot.

The parade, sponsored by the junior chamber of commerce and recreation council, begins at 11 a.m. and ends by noon at Lytton Square.

Barnett, a professor of humanities at San Jose State College, said was "not attached to any peace organization."

He said the marchers were "a group of residents who feel strongly about the need for peace, and feel the Fourth of July is an appropriate and patriotic time to express their feelings. We feel that life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness are also the inalienable rights of the Vietnamese.

The marchers will be part of the parade, Barnett said.

Jerome C. Hauke, parade chairman, had a different version. The peace marchers, he said, were offered a place in the parade if they were fewer than 20. Barnett declined the offer, Hauke said, so the peace marchers will have to go behind the parade.

"Barnett's got his own parade," said Hauke.

"I told him that I have a small parade," Hauke added, "and that this would change the character of the whole parade, which is primarily slanted toward small children."

"My understanding is that it is an open community parade, said Barnett.

WAR

losses were put at 19 dead and 33 wounded.

On a road about 25 miles north of Saigon, a Communist mine blew up a truck carrying South Korean troops. The South Koreans suffered "moderate" casualties and the U.S. Army driver was wounded, spokesmen said.

In the air, Stratofortresses also struck near the Cambodian border in War Zone C, the key Viet Cong stronghold in South Vietnam.

U.S. spokesmen said American jets yesterday streaked into North Vietnam and hit antiaircraft sites, rail lines and other military targets. Pilots reported knocking out two surface to air missile (SAM) sites 16 miles south of the Communist capital of Hanoi.

Three U.S. warplanes went down yesterday over North Vietnam. But two F105 pilots—one of whom said he was "ready to cash it all in" during a night in enemy territory—were pulled to safety in daring rescue missions, spokesmen said today.

The Communists' air defense network ran the total of downed American planes to 596 and may have captured another flier, the pilot of a Navy A4 Skyhawk.

Two Treated For Cut Wounds

Donald Arnott, 41, and Marie Christodola, 42, both of 44 Williams Avenue, Larkspur were treated for stab wounds yesterday at Marin General Hospital.

Fishermen Solve Novato Saucer Scare

What some Novato residents supposed a flying saucer was fished out of San Pablo Bay Saturday morning by two fishermen near Hamilton Air Force Base.

It turned out to be a U.S. weather balloon with instruments, signal light and orange parachute attached. The balloon was found by Lyle L. Vincent of 578 Fernando Drive, Novato, and his father-in-law, John Daldon of Millbrae.

Daldon said many persons Thursday night reported seeing an orange, glowing object in the sky over Novato.

The glow, Daldon said, must have come from the attached light, which is designed to shine upward into the parachute during descent. The light was still burning when the pair hulted in the balloon.

Daldon said the kit included a plastic bag in which the instruments are to be packed and sent to a weather center in Joliet, Ill., with information on its recovery.

The balloon was the only thing they caught all morning, Daldon said, and they had to send it to Joliet.

CREEK

disagreement between the Corps and Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board over dredging controls forced a postponement last month which was not announced to the public.

Presented in Washington by county officials in support of their position was a letter received in March,1966, from G. P. Reilly, chief of the engineering division of the Corps in San Francisco, which said that diking costs for lands filled with dredging spoils were "considered a federal responsibility." The $40,000 would dike the 250-acre Domenic Muzzi property east of Highway 101, where an estimated 600,000 cubic yards of fill are to be dumped.

Also, Frost and Kettenhofen argued that the county should have to contribute only the $55,000 for land enhancement on the first phase of the project from San Francisco Bay to the Bon Air bridge because, Frost said, "we have no assurance that the second part will ever be built."

"When they come up with a schedule for that phase," the director said today "that money will be made available."

Frost hinted at a compromise on the diking costs, but would not elaborate. The county position remains adamant on land enhancement, he added.

The meetings with Woodbury and other members of his staff were held in the office of Rep. Don H. Clausen, R-Crescent City. Also attending was Col. Frank H. Boeger, district engineer for the Corps in San Francisco.

Citizen Arrest Jails Bar Patron

Samuel Westley James, 43, of 15 Humboldt Avenue, San Anselmo, was jailed Saturday on charges of battery and disturbing the peace after a reported fracas at the 881 Club, a bar at 881 Fourth Street, San Rafael.

Bartender Cletus E. Thillen, who made a citizen's arrest of James, told police James had created a disturbance and then struck him as he was leaving, breaking Thillen's glasses and cutting his nose.

James posted $386 bail to appear in Marin Municipal Court this afternoon.

Tiburon Man, 77, Injured In Fall

Manuel V. Availla, 77, of 1809 Mar West Street, Tiburon was reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital with broken ribs and head cuts suffered in a fall at 6:05 p.m. yesterday.

Mrs. R. L. McPhedran, told tiburon sheriff's deputies her grandfather was going out to water the garden when he fell down some stone steps at his residence.

Gainers Have A Day But Trading Is Dull

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed today with gainers outnumbering losers about 3 to 2. Trading was very dull.

The market was mixed at the start as semi-holiday conditions prevailed due to the July 4 observance Tuesday and the fact that many had taken a four-day weekend.

The industrials were depressed earl yin the session due to selective weakness among blue chips. These issues did better later in the day leaving the averages close to even.

Xerox rose 5, Polaroid 3, IBM and Control Data about 2 each.

Gainers outnumbered losers by a good margin but losses of key blue chips depressed the Dow Jones industrial average. The New York Stock Exchange index was higher.

CIT Financial led the list on volume, showing a fractional loss.

Among other very active issues, General Dynamics gained 2, Boeing fell nearly 3 and Gillette dropped more than a point while fractional gains were made by Glen Alden, Electrical & Musical Industries, Pan American Sulphur and A.J. Industries.

Depressing the Dow industrials, United Aircraft dropped 1; American Telephone, Anaconda and Du Pont lost fractions.

The top four steelmakers made fractional gains while autos were mixed with General Motors up slightly.

Tuesday's July 4th holiday had caused many on Wall Street to turn the weekend into a four-day vacation.

Prices were irregularly higher on the American Stock Exchange in slack trading.

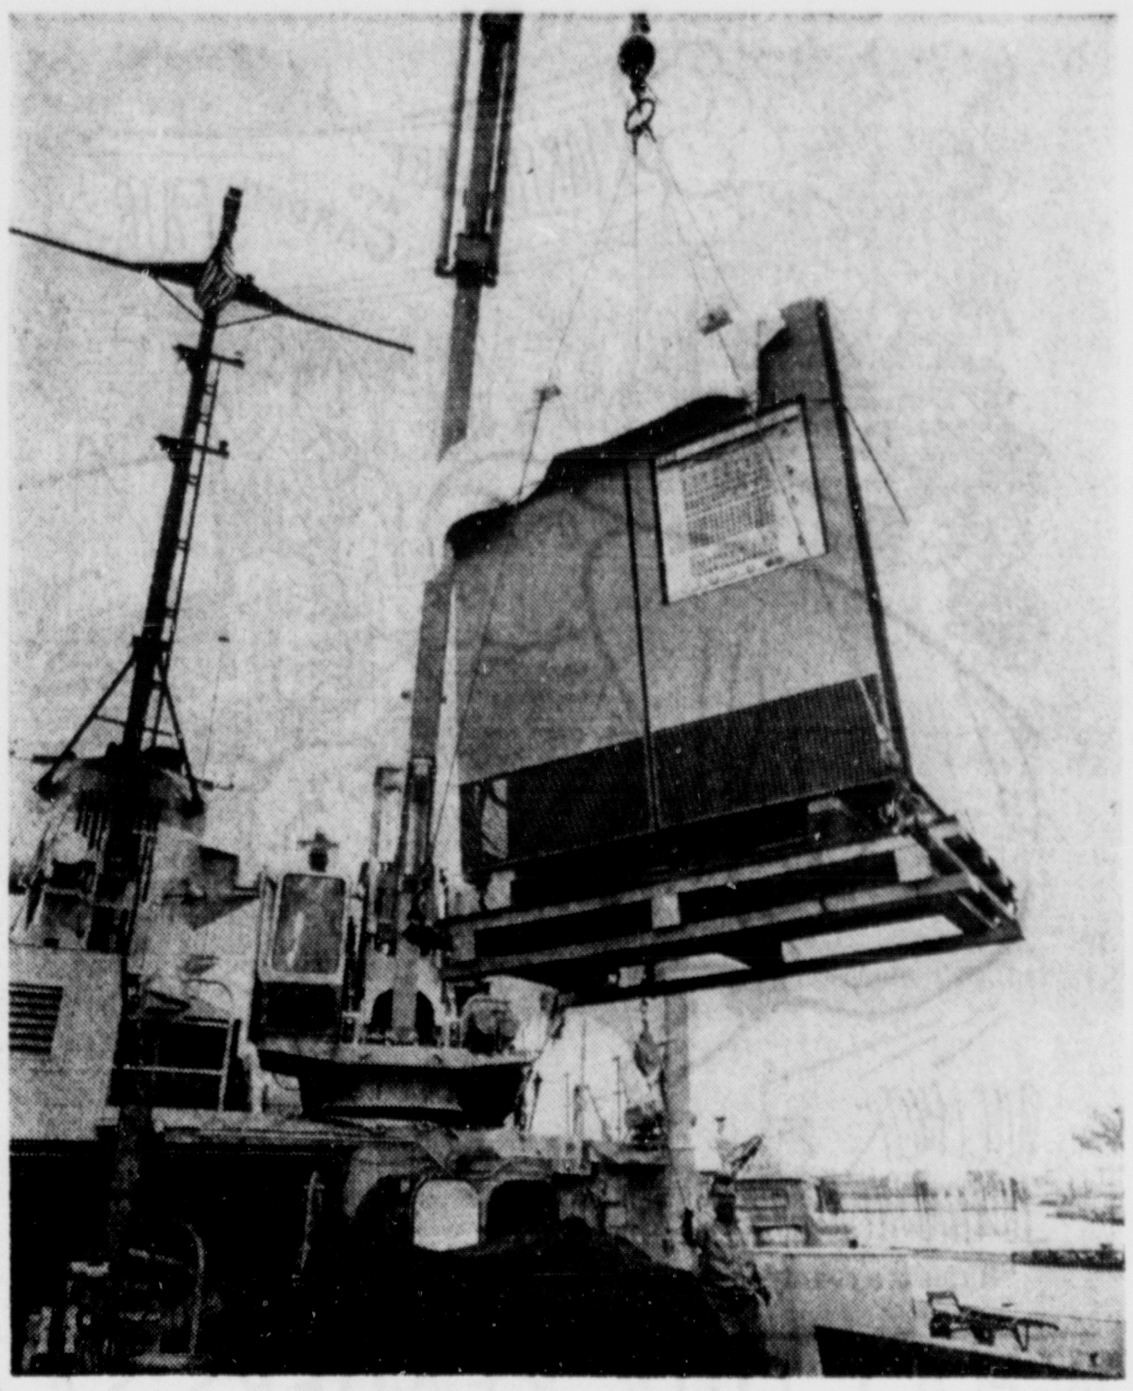
Computers Talk Via Satellite

SAN JOSE—The feasibility of high-speed, volume transmission of business data by satellite has been demonstrated in tests recently completed by International Business Machines Corp.

The transatlantic transmissions were between nine IBM computing centers in the U.S., including San Jose, and one in Paris.

Signals were relayed by the Early Bird satellite in orbit 22,300 miles above the Atlantic Ocean.

The Medal of Honor is the highest military award for bravery that can be given to any individual in the United States.



COMPUTER GOES TO SEA

A computer will go to sea aboard the Thomas Washington, research vessel of the Scripps Institution of Oceanography. The computer, an IBM 1800 date acquisition and control system, is the first of its kind to be installed on board a research ship. It will provide scientists with immediate analyses of research projects and experiments conducted while at sea. Previously, data was collected by instruments during long voyages and processed by land-based computers after the ship returned to port. The Scripps Institution is part of the University of California, San Diego.

INVESTING

Inflation Hedge: Fast Growth List

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. "Due to a disability, my huband had to take an early retirement. Our home is debt-free, we have savings and insurance and our yearly income will be around $10,000. We have been buying a mutual fund on an installment plan, paying $50 a month. This has not been too wise an investment. Could you recommend two stocks to give us inflation protection in the years ahead?" G. C.

A. I am sorry to read of your husband's disability but I am glad to see you so well situated for retirement. Your mutual fund instllment purchase probably involved a front-end load. This means that a large proportion of total sales commission over the life of the plan was taken out of the first year's payments. With these costs out of the way, your investment should begin to pay off.

Almost any growth stock can be expected to gain sufficiently in earnings, dividends and price to protect you against inflation on a long term-basis. For practical purposes, I would prefer a premium for relatively fast growth. In this category I recommend Becton, Dickinson and Plough, Inc. These stocks have had a much better than average record in recent years.

Q. "My husband and I have 50 shares of Danly Machine Specialties. We have heard nothing from them for over a year, although previously we received notices and dividents regularly. Where should I write for information about this company?" L.B.

A. The name of your company was changed last October to Danly Machine Corporation but this wouldn't necessarily affect your status as a stockholder. The shares are traded in the unlisted market and are quoted around 20 bid. Dividends have been paid regularly since 1961 and the most recent payment was in June 1967. I advise you to write to the transfer agent, First National Bank, Chicago, for information about your failure to receive dividends.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

Pet Supply Wholesale Firm Relocates In Marin County

A new business in Marin County — relocated from San Francisco—is Northern California Pet Supply (also known as Nor-Cal Pets), a wholesale distributing firm.

Owner K. L. (Ken) Wiltz, a resident of Kentfield since 1958 has taken quarters at 115 Jordan Street, San Rafael—leased through Charles W. Rosenbaum of Redmond and Co. The company operated in San Francisco for 20 years as L. O. Wiltz and Sons, a partnership which was dissolved the first of this year. The company serves all of Northern California with lines of national brand pet products and specialty items.

Wiltz is a past president of the Western Wholesale Pet Supply Association and is now on the advisory council He is also treasurer of the newly formed Pet Health and Ecology Studies Foundation. Mrs. Wiltz assists her husband in the business.

TWO NEW SHOPS, leased but not yet open at the Red Hill Shopping Center, San Anselmo, should be in business by the middle of August:

Reva Fashions — this is owned by Mrs. Reva Ambinder and will mean a removal of her present shop, Fashion Flair, from Greenfield Avenue, San Anselmo. She also owns Reva Blouses in San Francisco.

Ronald's Hair Stylists—another salon for Ronald DeArmand, who already has one under the same name in Sausalito.

A NEW BEAUTY SALON — Rosemary's Hair Styling — has been opened at 413 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley. Hours are from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mondays through Fridays, with later hours on Thursday evenings.

This is a first business venture for Mrs. Rosemary Vigre of Mill Valley. She has been working at a San Francisco salon for more than three years.

Roofing Can Be Costly Business

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Businesses have been advised to reduce overhead by taking a look at what the roof overhead is made of.

The fire insurance people issued the suggestion. They said fire insurance costs have gone up 10 per cent this year. Roofs are a big factor in rates.

"The cost of re-roofing with fire-retardant materials often will be offset by the savings in fire insurance," a spokesman said.

Merger Voted

SAN JOSE — Shareholders of FMC Corp. and Link-Belt Co., in separate meetings in San Jose and Chicago, have approved immediate merger of the two companies.

Finnish Textiles Are Major Exports

NEW YORK (UPI)—Textiles and manufactured textile products topped all Finnish exports during 1966, reports the Finnish American Chamber of Commerce.

"Analysis of Finland's 1966 export results now establish that textiles and manufactured textile products accounted for more than 100 million finnmarks of overseas sales, for an increase of 32 per cent over the 1965 level, and now represents the largest single group in the sector of Finnish consumer goods exports," the chamber says.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

TODAY' EDITORIAL

Marin Headlands Park Will Soon Be Reality

Growing assurances that state acquisition will begin soon on the magnifcient Marin coastline at the entrance to the Golden Gate is welcome news.

It is fortunate that the lands have been held in military hands. Otherwise, the headlands north of the Golden Gate may have gone the way of Marincello, and like Marincello, the county would have had to allow private owners to develop the coastline, unless the state or federal government were willing to buy it outright. Such a purchase would perhaps have been too expensive.

The 320 acres of surplus military land is appraised at about $1.5 million. However, since it is owned by the federal government, the cost to the state will be one half the market value, or about $750,000. The state may even be able to save this $750,000, if a land exchange deal with the federal government goes through.

It has taken years of effort by Sen John F. McCarthy, Assemblyman William T. Bagley, Congressman Don H. Clausen and conservation groups to have the area preserved for a state park. Their efforts are now about to bear fruit in the form of actual state acquisition of 320 acres from the Gate Bridge to Bonita Cove. This is only a small portion of the 3,600 acres that comprise Forts Baker, Barry and Cronkhite.

We hope that the remaining military land, except for what's actually needed by the Coast Guard and the Army, will be added soon to Marin Headlands State Park. This would include the popular Rodeo Beach and Lagoon at Fort Cronkhite, which is already being used by the public for fishing, pebble hunting and beach combing.

Further north, the state is making some headway in acquiring land for expansion of Mt. Tamalpais State Park, although rising prices are jeopardizing the hoped-for purchase of the vast Brazil Ranch.

The day may yet come when the entire stretch of rugged coastline, from the Golden Gate to Point Reyes National Seashore will become a vast public recreation area.

Cottontails, Everybody's Favorite

Cottontail Rabbits are a favorite wild animal of most Marinites. Everyone, that is, except dedicated, single-minded gardeners.

With his fluffy white tail flashing, as he makes a zig-zag dash to safety, all he has to do is sit down to "disappear." His grizzled grayish-brown color renders him inconspicuous against almost any background.

Besides Farmer Magregor's cabbages, cottontails like grasses, shrubs and fruits. They have two or more litters of from two to six young per year. These are born in burrows or shallow depressions in nests lined with fur.

They do best in brushy neighborhoods and blackberry patches. Encroaching civilizations, with its dogs and cats, is making life a bit difficult for cottontails in Marin.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Execution-Blocking Suits Held As Mockery Of Courts

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — In filing suit to block execution of 59 death row murderers, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People attempts to circumvent the normal processes of government and as the federal courts where the suit was filed, to extend its dictatorial authority over the peoples of the state.

The condemned row murderers all have been tried by California courts, and the death sentence imposed. The attempt to prevent the sentences from being carried out makes a mockery of justice in this state.

REGARDLESS OF THE hysteria the subject of capital punishment creates in some quarters, it is the law in California, and therefore should have the respect and consideration given all other laws.

For some 40 years, the opponents of capital punishment have attempted through the legislative process, to abolish that law, without success. The issue never has been taken to the people of the state for a general vote, which would be the proper course of action if the opponents feel they are not obtaining a just deal from the legislature.

But instead of going to a popular vote, NAACP, no doubt prompted by the fact that 28 per cent of the condemned men are Negroes, seeks to have the federal courts make another legislative decision.

The United States Supreme Court in effect made a legislative decision, and negated the will of the people of the state, when it held Proposition 14 unconstitutional. This proposition, voted by the people with a large majority, merely affirmed the right of a property owner to have absolute jurisdiction in the handling of his property. This was a great victory for NAACP, as it supposedly ends discrimination against minority races and transfers that discrimination to the majority.

WHETHER THE NAACP expects the federal courts again to rule against the constitutional right of the people to make their own laws, remains to be seen.

Assemblyman Charles J. Conrad, R-Hollywood, says if NAACP is successful in its suit, Californians "can brace themselves for an increase in crimes of violence, which already are the highest in history."

"I wish," Conrad declared, "they would give some consideration to the torture inflicted upon the victims, and to the years of loneliness and economic loss faced by the families of those victims.

"The death penalty is a deterrent. Numerous criminals have testified how they hesitated to kill because 'I didn't want to sniff that gas.'

"BUT FOR OVER a generation, we have seen the growth of a philosophy that it is wrong to punish murderers and rapists. That criminals are just sick people, and during that time, crime has reached an all-time high."

For an issue that has received all the comment that capital punishment has over the past forty years, it might appear to be about time for the issue to be submitted to the people, and thus be decided once and for all rather than having it come every session before the legislature.

But even if it were submitted to the people, and a vote cast to retain it as part of California law, the question then might be whether the people made a proper decision under court ruling.

"Forget France. We're damned mad at De Gaulle this year!"

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

Officials of North Marin Water District and Indian Valley Golf Club held groundbreaking ceremonies for a golf course on the south side of Stafford Lake, west of Novato.

The Catholic Archdiocese of San Francisco, preparing for an expected influx of population, bought a 10-acre church and school site on the McNear Ranch, east of San Rafael.

San Quentin Prison officials cracked down on the practice among inmates of sniffing a variety of chemical fumes, including carbon tetrachloride, for "thrills."

"If this is a county fair, where's all the pigs and chickens and stuff?"

State's Job Slash Figures Challenged

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Your issue of 21 June gave space to a publicity blurb from Sacramento that should have been placed on the page established for fiction or bright sayings of children.

I refer to the press release from Paul Beck, one of the many press agents of Mr. Reagan's administration in which he beamed over the fact(?) that 7,659 state jobs had been slashed in the last four months. Mr. Beck added the intimation that this act could save the weary taxpayer $50 million in 1967.

As a Republican I am as concerned as any other Republican and Democrat over the sky-rocketing costs of our government and certainly welcome such savings. But, before any of us cheer let's analyze the story and separate facts from fiction.

First, the definition of savings by Mr. Webtser is the one the tax-payer understands. But his definition is foreign to state and federal agency heads. Let's see. To be considered true savings the slash of the 7,659 positions must be of actual, filled positions. Were they? Or were they the hoped-for new positions requested by agency heads? Mr. Beck only says that the positions were not filled.

Anyone familiar with budget preparation and presentation by agency heads in Sacramento and Washington know it is common practice to request jobs over and above requirements. This is fine psychology. When the allotment is returned and the personnel quota is established under the ballooned request, the requestor accepts it manganimously and is publicized as a cost-conscious official while losing few if any jobs. Certainly there are exceptions to this practice but those who follow it are many.

It boils down to this: If the millions called savings were previously appropriated and not spent and returned to the tax-payer in an actual benefit in dollars, only then can Mr. Beck's so-called savings can be defined true savings.

Taxpayers Urged To Pen Protests

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Okay, all you unhappy, overtaxed property owners! What are you going to do about it?

Tuck your tail between your legs, slink out and put up a 'For Sale' sign on the home you love?

Or are you going to show a little of the old pioneer spirit that built this country and, at least, make a feeble effort to fight back?

If so, invest in one little five-cent stamp and put your tax gripes in writing and mail it to Mr. Melvin Rupp, Marin County Property Owners Assn., 1330 Lincoln Ave., Rm. 301, San Rafael, Calif.

Please remember, grumbling among yourselves may relieve your feelings . . . but it doesn't do a thing for your wallet or pocket book!

Drummond Criticized On Rockefeller Item

Editor, Independent-Journal:

If it wasn't so tragic — and disastrous for the Republican Party — it would be funny. I'm referring to the escalation of the Rockefeller for President movement as evidenced by the Roscoe Drummond column in the June 26 I-J.

It is too bad that poor old Roscoe has slipped so far out of the mainstream of Republican thinking that he can seriously suggest that (1) Rocky isn't interested in the nomination and (2) that he would stand the slightest chance of ever being elected. This pipe dream is further indication that Roscoe is a candidate for the comic page — that is if he were only a little bit humorous.

In the first place, it is painfully apparent that the politically ambitious Rocky hasn't stopped running for President at any time since about 1958. Obviously he is simply appearing to back Romney only until he can convert the Romney organization (financed mostly with Rockefeller money) into a "grass roots" Rocky movement after the public realizes that the wavering Michigan governor just hasn't got it. The only trouble was that dove-hawk Romney demonstrated his lack of qualifications in foreign affairs too early and upset Rocky's timing.

Secondly, Rocky's record as governor of New York just won't stand public scrutiny. Unfortunately we seldom get the chance to examine his record because of the smoke screen that is consistently generated by the likes of Drummond and other liberal-establishment columnists. These same columnists are always quick to advise Republicans who to nominate but can be found at election time solidly in the Democrat corner — the Far Left corner that is.

Latest Montecito Sign Is Protested

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I note that United Markets is erecting a large, tall sign at Montecito Shopping Center, presumably to lure customers down from the nearby overpass.

United now joins Thrifty Drug, Mayfair Market and Purity Stores in their attempt to further desecrate the concrete expanses of Montecito Center.

I thought that San Rafael had a sign control law but I guess that it doesn't apply to large, ugly ones.

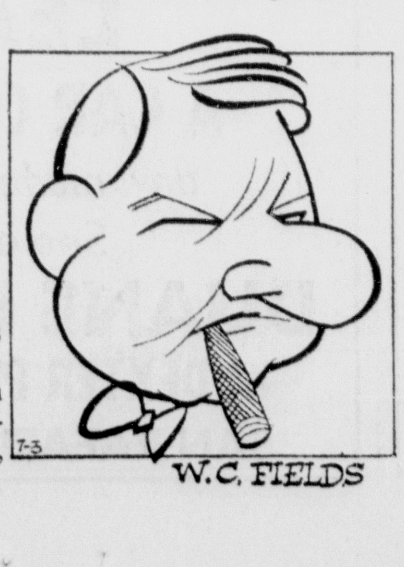
TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

JUDITH CRIST has pinpointed the cause for the ever-increasing popularity of old movies starring the late W. C. Fields. "It is Fields as an angry man, suspicious of the world, who delights our souls," reasons Miss Crist, "for the anger is hidden behind the overblown facade of the innocent abroad, whether he was playing the role of Larsen E. Whipsnade, or Professor Eustace McGargle, or Cuthbert J. Twillie, or indeed, the great Micawber. Fields himself knew he was catering to the unkind-of-heart among us. 'I like, in an audience,' he once wrote, 'the fellow who roars continually at the character I am portraying on the stage — but he probably is a mean old curmudgeon himself and, if I needed ten dollars, he'd be the last person I'd call on. I'd go to the staid old couple in Row S who keep wondering what there is to laugh at in my act'."



AN IRREVERENT group of quipsters along Publishers' Row, calling themselves "The Oblivion Press," have announced a book list that includes "The Lizzie Borden Story for Children," "Son of Ideal Marriage," "The Tax Evader's Handbook," and "What Price Waterhouse."

Congress Just Shade Nervous About Tax Increase Request

WASHINGTON — The nation's economy is in a riskful state. The action lies with Congress.

It won't relish passing a tax increase just a year before the 1968 elections.

But if Congress rejects the pleas of the Administration and of the top economists, it will be taking a perilous risk by applying the "New Economics" when it is politically easy and rejecting it when it is politically uncomfortable.

That road leads to economic disaster.

Let me indicate what is at stake.

TODAY ALL of the objective factors which call for restraint are present in the economy. A tax increase is the effective instrument of such restraint.

The is the judgment of Gardner Ackley, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, of William McChesney Martin, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, of Raymond J. Saulnier, who was President Eisenhower's chief economic adviser, and of other leading economists.

Ackley and Martin have just told Congress that "there is no escape" from the necessity of a tax increase this year.

The necessity stems from still-rising defense costs, a certain and whopping Federal deficit, a first-quarter dip in the economy turning into resurgence, nearly full employment, and tight money again at hand.

These conditions spell the imminence of an overexpansive, overheated economy, and only a tax increase, in the judgment of most economists, can relieve these conditions.

THE TENETS of the Keynesian New Economics — and nearly everybody is Keynesian today — are these:

That there is no virtue in balancing the Federal budget every year.

That in a growing economy the budget need not be balanced except as spending needs to be cut back to control inflation and steady the economy.

That in times of unemployment, excess capacity, and sluggish growth, the government should deliberately shape financial policy to promote demand and fuller employment.

This latter is exactly what Congress did in 1964 when it cut taxes, and most businessmen and bankers backed the use of government policy to stimulate the economy.

That was fine, altogether welcome. Keynesian doctrine was working well.

BUT THERE are two rules — and two roles — for the government to play in the New Economics, and the second rule is unfamiliar to some and neglected by others.

It is this: When there is strong inflationary pressure and the economy is becoming overheated, then taxes must be raised and the Federal deficit brought more nearly into balance.

Besides stimulating the economy when needed, the government has the duty to restrain the economy when needed.

But if the government is going to relish the first and neglect the second, then we are really in for trouble because no nation can long prosper half-Keynesian and half laissez-faire.

We are now facing that very risk because cutting taxes is politically popular and therefore politically easy, while restraining the economy is politically painful.

THIS IS WHY one of the greatest tests which now confronts the nation and the Congress is whether we are going to apply courageously and wisely the first rule of the New Economics — to stimulate the economy — and neglect or apply tardily its second rule — to restrain the economy when necessary — and end up with the worst of both.

Summit Raises New Peace Hints

By ROBERT S. ALLEN
and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — North Vietnam may be preparing a dramatic shift to a "fight and negotiate" strategy in Vietnam.

This change by Hanoi was hinted by Soviet Premier Kosygin during his summit talks with President Johnson but not revealed by either leader in their public pronouncements.

According to a confidential State Department briefing paper covering their discussions on the Vietnam impasse, the Soviet leader made a major point that many conflicts, including the Korean war, had ended "by negotiations while the fighting continued."

IF THE U.S. would stop its bombing of North Vietnam, Kosygin is quoted as saying, Hanoi would then agree to the holding of talks to discuss a further end to the fighting.

While neither accepting or rejecting the Kosygin proposal, the paper points out, the President suggested that the North Vietnamese should first agree in secret to a time and place for the truce talks.

Once details for a conference are worked out, the President indicated the Soviet porposal would be acceptable. Otherwise, there could be no unilateral announcement by the U.S. because of the failure of North Vietnam to respond to past bombing pauses.

AFTER KOSYGIN agreed to relay the President's views to Hanoi, the paper states, it was jointly decided that the matter would be left for further talks between Secretary of State Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko.

During the Vietnam discussions, President Johnson is pictured as going to great lengths to try to convince Kosygin that the U.S. had no intentions of invading North Vietnam or toppling that regime.

As if confined to one rebuttal argument by Moscow, Kosygin kept repeating that the only way the U.S. could convince his government of this would be to halt all attacks against North Vietnam.

Kosygin's unannounced proposal is the second hint that the U.S. has received in recent weeks that Hanoi may be shifting its strategy in Vietnam.

Documents taken from captured North Vietnam officers contained instructions for the indoctrination of troops in the necessity for "negotiating while fighting" during a protracted war.

ONE OF THE MOST intriguing mysteries of the continuing Middle East crisis is the double role that France's President Charles de Gaulle is playing.

The U.S.-hating French leader appears to be supporting and encouraging both Arabs and Israel while linking the Middle East fighting to the Vietnam war.

In public statements and actions, De Galle has surprised almost everyone by siding with the Arab nations and Russia. In private, he is helping Israel by permitting shipments of military spare parts to continue.

THE LATTER POLICY gives De Gaulle one of the trump cards in the complex Middle East situation, since the equipment which Israel used to smash the Arabs was largely French in origin.

With all other sources of arms supplies cut off, the French equipment is vital to the mobility of Israel's tough but small fighting force. Its long lines of communication make it absolutely necessary that all military equipment be kept operating.

Marin Taxpayers Are Lucky Knowing Where The Money Goes

Marin County taxpayers are lucky.

So what if the supervisors lay away a few dollars for sick hippies? Mental health costs are being reduced in Sacramento, but what's wrong with Marin boosting its own program? Some salaries also went up during budget hearings, but who's to say they're not justified?

At least people in Marin know where their tax money is going. It's different in a county in the East where I used to work. There, the motto of public officials — appropriately called "politicos" — was, "stuff your pockets, brothers, because you may not be around long."

Stuff, they did. Budget time in the county administration building there went something like this:

ENTER THE CHAIRMAN of the board of freeholders, which they are called there. He's a sharp dresser. Silk suits. The diamond ring glints on his little finger. Pillar-of-the-community type. Very indictable.

"Here's the budget," he says. "And we've struggled like crazy to keep the tax rate down."

"It's cut beyond the bone," adds the $9,000-a-year county public relations man.

Budget hearings? Whazzat? The budget is introduced at one meeting and quickly adopted the next.

The audience is passive, save one fellow who shows up every year to ask the same question.

"MR. CHAIRMAN, I would again like to ask why you gentlemen have to ride around in $5,000 county limousines?" (He always forgets to add that the cars are chauffeured and have air-conditioning.)

Clearing his throat nervously, the chairman responds:

"Because we think we're entitled to that type of transportation."

"Oh!"

The budget passes unanimously, with one member absent. He is at the race track. I know that because my sister used to bump into him at the $50 window.

Everybody's chum and relative is on the payroll, or "pad" as they embracingly called it. And where a relative could not be fitted in, a present big shot would take the job himself.

THERE WAS a freeholder who also was mayor of a municipality in the county and a member of a board which governed operations of the main road running through the county. Total salary: $35,000. Work: Minimum. Conflict of interest? Naw.

Members of the party in power always got re-elected because they had help from the county clerk, who also was a city councilman and rode in a chauffered county car. When it came time to draw for ballot positions, he would adjust the box so that his party representatives always would select row A. This happened 14 years running.

THE DEPARTMENT heads were experienced people. And smart. Once, during the swearing-in of the new director of the Department of Weights and Measures, someone asked him:

"Hey Barney, what's a peck?"

"How should I know?" Barney shot back, annoyed. "I haven't even been in my office yet."

All the department heads and freeholders were tough to reach at home because they had unlisted telephones.

Once, during budget time, I tried to contact the freeholders' chairman about a puzzling budget item. Finally, I got him at his athletic club.

"George," I asked, "what's this item here about $50,000 for hippies. . . .

Solid Glassboro Citizen Not Too Happy With The Publicity

WASHINGTON — They said it couldn't be done, but I finally found a man who lived in Glassboro, N.J., who hadn't been interviewed by the press.

Unlike all of Glassboro's other citizens, he wasn't surprised in the least that Glassboro had been selected as the place for a summit meeting.

"If you were Premier Kosygin and President Johnson, where would you meet?" he said.

"Well, I don't think I would have thought of Glassboro," I replied frankly.

"The obvious choice would have been Summit, N.J.," he said. "But if you look at a map you'll see Summit is closer to New York than it is to Washington, and President Johnson couldn't go there. So they had to meet in Glassboro or out in the middle of the New Jersey Turnpike."

"WERE YOU IMPRESSED with seeing Premier Kosygin?" I asked him.

"If you've seen one Soviet Premier you've seen them all."

"But you've got to admit it was a great honor to have him in your town. He had nice things to say about Glassboro."

"He had nice things to say about everything until he got back to New York, and then, zowee, he let the United States have it. I think it would have helped if he were nastier in Glassboro and nicer at the United Nations."

"But don't you think the world is a better place because Kosygin and Mr. Johnson met in Glassboro?"

"The world may be a better place, but he big question is, is Glassboro a better place?"

"WHAT DO YOU mean by that?"

"Well, this was a small town, and we were simple people who didn't have too many opinions on anything. Now, wherever you go, everybody wants to talk about world politics. The grocery man wants to know if I think we should have a nuclear nonproliferation treaty, the candy store owner says he's against an antiballistic missile defense treaty and the garage attendant has come out for disarmament. It's hard to get anyone to talk about the Philadelphia Phillies any more."

"But you are on the map."

"You don't have to tell me that. I got relatives I never heard of who keep calling and wanting to visit us. Guys I went to school with pull up in station wagons with their families and want me to take them over to Hollybush where the summit took place. We got tourists coming out of our ears."

"BUT AT LEAST THE 'spirit of Glassboro' will go down in history books all over the world."

"You ever read a Soviet history book? They'll probably say the summit took place in Rhode Island."

"In spite of what you say, I'm sure you would be flattered if the leaders of the world decided to have another summit meeting in Glassboro," I said.

"I SUPPOSE SO. It would be worth it just to see Charles de Gaulle's face after he got a whiff of some parts of New Jersey."

CIVIC CENTER'S HALL OF JUSTICE TAKES SHAPE

Beginning to take final shape, the walls of the new Hall of Justice wing of the Marin Civic Center await the arrival of beams and laterals, supported now by 850-pound weights and cables. Under construction since March of last year, the building which will house the jail, 10 courtrooms, and other offices presently at the county courthouse is expected to be completed sometime next year at a cost of $9.5 million dollars.

Class Size Larger In Upper Grades

While the vast majority of elementary schools in Marin County have class sizes far below the state-wide average, high schools in the San Rafael and Novato areas have more students per class than the average for schools of their size.

This is revealed in statistics on class sizes issued by the California Teachers Association. Marin reflects the statewide trend for high school class sizes to go up and elementary class sizes to go down.

One reason for this is that financial incentives offered districts for cutting elementary class sizes do not exist at the secondary level, according to Dr. Garford Gordon, CTA research executive.

Average size of classes at high schools in the Novato Unified School District is 29.1 students — or exactly two students more than the state average for schools in districts of its size.

In San Rafael high schools, the picture is slightly better. There, the average class size is 27.3 students, compared with the state average of 27.1.

On the elementary scene, schools in the Novato Unified, Dixie and Fairfax School Districts show above average class sizes. In Novato, the figure is 29.5 students compared with the state average of 28.8 for schools of comparable size; in Dixie 30.4 compared with 29.2; and in Fairfax 29.6 compared with 28.1.

Dr. Gordon sets a class size of 30 students as the maxium before teachers "observe a deterioration in learning." In Marin County, only elementary schools in the Dixie district touched this average, although high school class sizes in Novato were very close.

The overall class size picture in Marin — with state averages according to district size in brackets — is as follows:

High School Districts — Novato 29.1 (27.1); San Rafael 27.3 (27.1); Tamalpais 26.9 (27.8); Tomales 18.9 (20.4).

Elementary School Districts — Bolinas Stinson 16.1 (25.0); Dixie 30.4 (29.2); Fairfax 29.6 (28.1); Kentfield 27.0 (28.1); Laguna 16.0 (16.9); Lagunitas 23.1 (25.0); Larkspur 25.7 (28.1); Lincoln 10.0 (16.9); Mill Valley 27.7 (29.2); Novato 29.5 (28.8); Nicasio 15.7 (16.9); Point Reyes 15.0 (16.9); Reed 27.4 (28.1); Ross 25.2 (27.2); San Anselmo 26.1 (28.0); San Rafael 27.5 (28.8); Sausalito 23.5 (27.2); Tomales Bay 24.3 (25.0); Union 15.0 (16.9); West Marin 23.0 (25.0).

Mrs. Wilson To Remain In Library

Larkspur Librarian Mrs. Helen S. Wilson Saturday agreed to a Yarkspur Library Board request to serve another year instead of retiring as planned.

Recruiting for a new librarian will be resumed next January.

The board drew up a tentative timetable calling for agreement by Nov. 1 on whether or not the Corte Madera and Larkspur libraries will merge. The two-year schedule takes the Larkspur library up to proposed completion of a new building in July, 1969.

Mrs. Frederick Brenlin was named chairman of the library board for 1967-68.

Mrs. Lois Rand, who has run the children's section for 11 years, was named assistant librarian, a new position at the library.

The board set new library hours of 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Tuesdays through Thursdays and 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Mondays and Fridays. The library will be open 48 hours a week instead of 31.

Youths Besiege Police Station In Resort City

LAKE GENEVA, Wis. (UPI) — Police facing thousands of beer-brave youths out for a good time clamped an undeclared state of martial law on this small resort town today.

Hundreds of youths stoned the police station before a National Guard company was called in and police gave everyone one hour to get off the streets and out of town.

Scores of windows, in buildings and in cars, were broken by the youths who rebelled at having police prod them into moving.

Residents of the town of 5,000 said it was the worst destruction experienced in the more than a decade college and high school-age youths have gathered here each Fourth of July weekend. This lakeside town is about halfway between Chicago and Milwaukee.

Subdivision Controversy On Agenda

A controversial proposal to subdivide a lot owned by Herbert Eloesser at Throckmorton Avenue and Eugene Street will be considered by Mill Valley city council at 8 p.m. Wednesday in city hall.

The regular Monday meeting was postponed two days because of Independence Day weekend.

Subdivision of the 15,000-square-foot lot is legal under existing zoning, but opposed by neighbors. It was deferred June 19 to be considered Wednesday at the same time as proposed rezoning of the neighborhood.

Another proposed rezoning to be heard is to increase minimum lot sizes in the area bounded by Summit, Myrtle, Ralston, Tamalpais, Lovell and Throckmorton Avenues.

Councilmen will consider reduction of carrying charges for garbage cans from 25 cents for each 50 feet beyond the first 50 feet, to 25 cents for carrying 101 to 300 feet, and 50 cents beyond 300 feet.

Also on the agenda is an ordinance to reduce all parking meters to one-hour limits, an ordinance to regulate removal of trees on private property, and a recommendation by the architectural advisory committee that Air Force radar domes on Mount Tamalpais be painted "dark brown-green."

At the center of each raindrop there is a micoroscopic particle of dust.

Fair To Open On Thursday In Petaluma

The four-day Sonoma-Marin Fair, the largest junior agricultural fair in Northern California according to manager Arthur F. Canavan, gets underway Thursday at the Petaluma Fairgrounds.

It will feature the stock and exhibits of Future Farmers of America and Four-H youngsters from the two counties, as well as many other exhibits, a circus, a carnival and a rodeo.

Among the first day activities will be the pageant for selecting Miss Sonoma County and Miss Marin County at 8 p.m.

The fair will start with a 7 a.m. breakfast at Walnut Park, Petaluma, and the gates will open each day at 9 a.m.

The rodeo is slated for Friday and Saturday. There will also be professional entertainment each day.

Freeholder Idea To Be Discussed

San Rafael City Council Wednesday will discuss the legal procedure in setting up a board of freeholders to undertake charter revisions.

Scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in City Hall, the council meeting has been put over two days because of the Fourth of July holiday.

The council agreed to look into the possibility of freeholders revamping the charter despite criticisms from some members at a May 1 meeting that recommendations had already been made by a charter revision committee and subsequently voted upon in the April elections.

Councilmen are expected to execute an agreement with the Terra Linda Community Services District on mutual assistance for fire protection.

Also on the agenda is a maintenance agreement and bond for the Twelveoak Hill Unit Four subdivision and setting of a date for a public hearing into annexing 3.06 acres of uninhabited land off Oakmont Court.

Most airplanes need 10 to 30 man-hours of maintenance for each hour in flight.

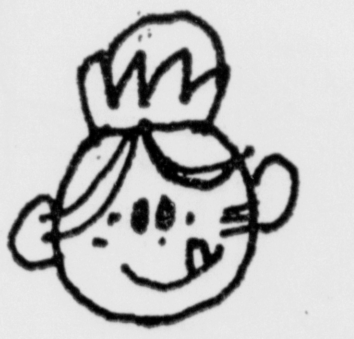
TEEN EATING HABITS

Meatballs For Breakfast?—Better Than Going Without

By BARBARA HOSMER



Let them eat cake—well, hamburgers for breakfast at least.

That's the advice of a dietitian on how to interest teen-agers, busy and on-the-go, in eating what they should for total health.

The point is that the youngster gets a sufficient variety of foods during the day to be well nourished, stresses diet authority Mrs. Doris Senger.

If it is necessary to eat on the run, perhaps a peanut butter sandwich or meat sandwich for breakfast will be the right thing. Diet breakfast can be mixed quickly in a glass and taste like a milkshake and can be downed easily while standing up, she suggests.

"This is much better than dashing off with no breakfast at all," the dietitian said. It is always better to have a teen-ager eat when he is hungry, rather than not at all. Many people simply cannot eat when they first get up. For these it is suggested that a 10 o'clock break at school be possible, she said.

The Dairy Council of California dietitian said that foods today for teen-agers must be geared to their interests—whether they be "go-go," Mod or psychedelic. "That's why they are interested in foods—not because they are good for you," she stresses.

Breakfast is a problem, and many teen-agers have no interest in adult foods—they're considered passe.

A LIQUID BREAKFAST, on the other hand, is Mod; leftovers may be acceptable and even hors doeuvres from the night before, she said.

"The smart mother may make a few extra and even plan to have leftovers and let the youngsters know that they may eat them in the morning. There is no one best time for any one food," Mrs. Senger stresses. "Good food is good anytime."

How capable are teen-agers of making food decisions? The question is important, as they eat an average of two meals a day of their own choosing.

Current studies have shown that six of every 10 teen-age girls and four of 10 teen-age boys have poor diets.

This means that they eat less than two-thirds of the recommended daily allowances of vitamins and minerals needed, Mrs. Senger said.

"And the girls don't improve with age—they get worse."

Most lacking are calcium and iron, and about four of every 10 lack enough vitamin C. Other deficiencies are riboflavin, vitamin A and thiamin.

Many of the girls have no breakfast at all or very little and drink very little milk for fear of putting on weight, she said.

"Teen-agers need a basic knowledge of nutrients for good health."

GROOVY EATING habits for teen-agers, she said, may include for breakfast a tuna or fried egg sandwich, cold meatballs, or hamburger or hotdog with milk. Some of these things have the added advantage that they can be eaten en route to school or the day's activity.

Mrs. Senger said that one of the problem areas is snack foods—these provide 20 to 30 per cent of the day's calories but only give about 10 per cent of its nutrients. They are "empty calorie" foods.

She listed among them crackerjack, cookies, candy and soda pop.

Better snack foods she suggests are things like bologna, cottage cheese, egg sandwiches, carrots (vitamin A) or fruit salad. If these are on hand and easily available in the refrigerator. Even though the potato-chip routine continues, if youngsters also snack from such other foods they will be getting more of the nutrients needed.

"TEEN-AGERS EAT all the time, and it's up to parents to see that they are supplied with good snack foods. A blender is a good idea, as they can make healthy milk drinks with fruits and juices that are fun as well.

"Popcorn can be made better as an accompaniment, too, by adding parmesan cheese, or some other kind, to it, and of course, fruits are great."

Serene Mood Pervades Big Sur

The mood was serene at Big Sur last week when an audience numbering more than 500 gathered for the fourth annual Big Sur Folk Festival on the cliffs of Hot Springs lodge. Featured on the two-day program was Joan Baez who invited her two sisters, Mimi Farina and Pauline Marden, to join her on the stage. The girls' mother also attended, setting the pace for the family-outing mood of the festival.

Adding to the feeling of the family affair were the heavy medieval velvet robes fashioned by Pauline Marden and worn by the three sisters and Judy Collins during both concerts.

Guests brought blankets and picnic lunches, some cooking their own hamburgers in a self-contained charcoal brazier. A month-long fog and cool spell magically lifted as the bright sun furnished a background for the spirit-lifting sounds.

The open-air atmosphere seemed to calm all age groups attending as some slept and others gently rocked to the swinging beat. And the silence of serious attention during parts of the performance felt a definite disturbance by the sound of footsteps on a gravel walk.

Paul Simon gave the appearance of a young boy thanking his host as he shook Joan Baez's hand following the well-received performance of Simon & Garfunkel on Wednesday.

At the opening that day, Joan had sung "The Lord's Prayer" in calypso, in perfect counterpoint with an echo which developed from an adjoining canyon.

Use Card System For Emergencies

NEW YORK (UPI) — For quick action in event of an emergency, try this card system suggested by the National Council on Family Health.

The council, supported by the drug industry, suggests that you print on a small white card the name and telephone numbers of police and fire departments, family doctor, the local hospital, pharmacist, and your own name and address. Tape one of these cards to each telephone in the home and keep a working light close to the phone.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Mrs. X Forced To Stay Home From Children's Celebrations

DEAR HELEN:

I raised my children alone, after another woman took my husband from me and married him. She is an overbearing, overdressed, loudmouthed slob, but my children are on fairly good terms with her as they visit their father often.

Comes the time for graduation parties and showers, and I will not attend any affair that she is invited to. Therefore, I'm forced to stay home from my own children's celebrations. After our daughter's graduation, her father gave her a big dinner at a hotel. That woman acted as hostess in my place!

Now there are bridal showers. The "new" Mrs. X has managed to get herself invited to most of them. When I refuse to come, people say I should stop being bitter after 12 years. How can I, when she took away my whole life! — MRS. X.

DEAR MRS. X:

"That woman" didn't take away your whole life. She merely took a husband who might have wandered anyway. You could make a new life for yourself if you'd knock off the "poor deserted wife" role and stop hating.

However, your friends show poor taste when they invite both the mother and stepmother ot the same shower. The mother should usually receive preference when a party is given for her daughter.

NOTE TO HOSTESSES: never ask two feuding women to be your guests concurrently, hoping they'll bury the hatchet. You'll get the axe from two directions! — H.

DEAR HELEN:

At 26, I have a good job, but still live with my parents and older brother. My father and mother seem to think I am a six-year-old. I have a midnight curfew, they disapprove of my friends and most of my clothes. If I want to watch a late TV movie my Dad goes into a panic.

I was brought up to "honor thy father and mother" and I try to please them. I pay board and room, have furnished the house for them and bring gifts.

Helen, I would like to be ou on my own, but I hate to leave them in a rut. You see my father is disabled and my mother works seasonal. What should I do? — TOM.

DEAR TOM:

At 26, you should be out on our own! Why don't you and your brother take an apartment nearby and visit the folks often? If they need financial help provide what you can, but live your own lives. You're being stifled! — H.

DEAR HELEN:

How can a daughter-in-law tell sensitive mother-in-law that she appreciates and admires her for making her own clothes, but has no desire to do same fore herself and three children?

I enjoy housekeeping and cooking, but sewing makes me nervous. With wise shopping, I outfit our daughters quite reasonably. Yet my mother-in-law is always remarking, "It's a shame you don't sew. . ." Her daughters do!

I don't want to create hard feelings, so should I just remain quiet when these digs hurt? — N.W.P.

DEAR N:

Face it: seamstresses are great crusaders. They don't mean to needle, but they keep hoping for a conversion. Smile and tell her that it's a shame sewing makes you nervous, but — "I'll let you teach our daughter the minute they're old enough!" — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Household Pests Prevention Ideas

NEW YORK (UPI)—You can help keep household pests out of the home with a few simple measures.

Here are some suggested by a leading exterminating company: Make certain all molding around floors and ceilings is secure. Check grocery bags after shopping; food markets may produce pests. Keep the dog clean. Repair any leaky pipes under sinks promptly. Keep foods tightly sealed in kitchen cabinets. Keep garbage tightly covered and empty it regularly. Keep surfaces and shelves free of food particles. Don't let garbage and other refuse accumulate outside the house.

New Drink

New from an English firm is the first bitter orange flavored carbonated beverage made from fresh orange pulp, peel, pith and juice, imported essences and quinine. The slightly tart drink is described as a mixer or an adult soft drink. It comes in 10-ounce non-returnable bottles.

FASHIONS AL FRESCO

Beverly Anderson was among the models who displayed homemade fashions at Paradise Shopping Center in Corte Madera on Saturday afternoon at the "Fair In Paradise" outdoor show sponsored by the Corte Madera and Larkspur Chambers of Commerce. The show, which includes booths, art, cafe, games and music, will continue through tomorrow.

Old-Fashioned Outing Planned

Summertime in the country will be celebrated the old-fashioned way Sunday with an annual bazaar and chicken barbecue on the parish grounds of St. Cecilia's Church in Lagunitas.

A 19-year-old tradition enjoyed by full-time residents, summer weekenders and all Marinites who visit the San Geronimo Valley, the bazaar is sponsored by the Women's Club and Holy Names Society of the chcurch.

Heading a committee of 35 are Mrs. Albert Schivo of Forest Knolls, general chairman, and Stanley Frederick of Lagunitas, grounds chairman.

Activities begin at 11 a.m. with game booths for both children and adults, and a chicken dinner barbecue beginning at noon.

In addition to this year's new innovation the vintage booth, other booths will specialize in exotic plants, white elephants, jewelry, home-made cakes and pastries, new toys, refreshments and a special feature: a large number of Nancy Ann story book dolls.

Textured Stockings

Count it a clean sweep in fashion for patterned and textured stockings and low-heeled pumps. They're what's worn with both daytime and evening clothes for fall. Showing up strongly are knee socks, the type children wear to school and what not too long ago were the style to go with Bermuda shorts.

Part 1 of a Series:

Search For Geniuses Is On

The first of three dispatches about gifted children and the problems involved both in recognizing and, developing them.

By HARRY FERGUSON

WASHINGON (UPI) — There are about 20 million children under the age of five in the United States. Somewhere among them, according to the law of averages, there are 20 upon whom the survival of the nation could well depend in the years ahead.

They are geniuses or potential geniuses. They may be white, black or brown. They may be living in a slum or have millionaires for parents. They are more likely to be boys than they are girls because the history of genius heavily favors the male sex.

Some of them will be artists, some musicians, some writers. But some of them — maybe seven — are going to be scientists and our future could well be in their hands.

THEY WILL BE our shields and saviors against obliteration by nuclear war, starvation or any other of the deadly perils that are lurking just around the corner for our generation.

The U.S. government, private agencies and many educators are eager to find these 20 children. The search for them goes on every day, but it is a difficult task. Children don't go round carrying a sign reading "genius." You have to search through millions of kids.

There probably are about 600,000 American children, aged five and under, who could be classified as "gifted." It probably is from this group that the geniuses will emerge. But how to spot them now?

Occasionally a child genius stands out. Wolfgang Mozart walked over to a piano when three years old and began picking out notes. When he was six years old, he composed waltzes and went on concert tours.

PHILOSOPHER John Stuart Mill read Greek when he was three years old. But he and Mozart were the one-in-a-billion shots, and the world has had some close calls by failing to recognize genius in the young. Like this man who wrote:

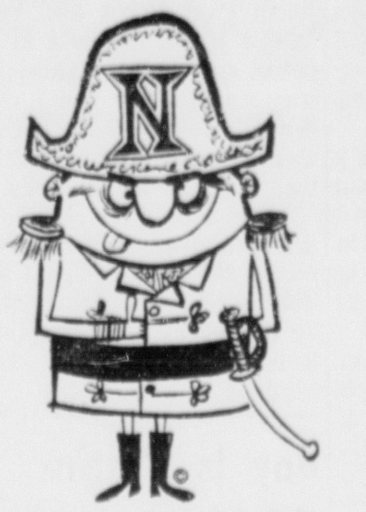
"I remember that I was never able to get along at school. I was always at the foot of the class. I used to feel that my teachers did not sympathize with me and that my father thought I was stupid." Author: Thomas A. Edison.

OR LIKE THIS ONE: "My father told me that his teachers reported to his parents that he was mentally slow, unsociable and adrift forever in his foolish dreams." Author: Albert Einstein, Jr.

Many things can throw you off the track when you are trying to identify the gifted or genius child. Einstein, for instance, spoke slowly and hesitantly and his parents he also was mentally slow. Actually his mind was soaring far beyond that of his schoolmates, his teachers and his parents.

The word genius may be abused in the English language. A pitcher with a good fast ball and a sharp curve is hailed as a genius. Motion picture actors frequently are saluted as geniuses whereas actually they are nothing more than talented mimics. Teen-age girls assure us that Elvis Presley and The Beatles are geniuses. Many literary critics who once referred to Ernest Hemingway as a genius now have decided he merely had a true ear for reproducing conversation in print.

SO WHAT IS GENIUS? Write your own ticket. Thomas Edison said it was "one per cent inspiration and 99 per cent perspiration" and Thomas Carlyle agreed it was "the capacity for taking trouble."



John Dryden thought "genius must be born and never can be taught." James Russell Lowell wrote "talent is that which is in man's power; genius is that in whose power a man is."

Over the years pshychologists and educators have devised means for measuring genius. Their primary yardstick is called the "intelligence quotient" or I.Q. but the idea that I.Q. alone can identify genius was discarded years ago. It is merely the starting point in the search and it works this way:

SUPPOSE YOU HAVE a six-year-old child. He is tested by being given a series of questions and his answers indicate the mental level of a nine-year-old boy. You divide his age, six, into his mental age, nine and you get 1.5. To eliminate the decimal point, you multiply by 100 and come out with 150. That is your child's I.Q.

So where does tha place him in relationship to the brains of his fellw six-year-olds? Very high, according to Florence N. Brumbaugh and Bernard Roshco in their book "Your Gifted Child." They rate I.Q. in children this way:

Average — 90-109.
Bright — 110 to 119.
Very bright — 120 to 129.
Gifted — 130 and above.

WE STILL HAVE NOT come across a genius, for that is at the very peak of the pyramid. Psychologists say genius starts at an I.Q. of 180 and that such a person is one in a millon. And that brings us back to the 20 children under age five who have a potential I.Q. of 180 and who could be the saviors of the United States sometime in the next 30 years.

Ceramic Tile Easy To Clean

There are two basic types of ceramic tile, glazed and unglazed, and normally, says the Tile Council of America, both require a minimum of effort to keep clean. A quick wipe with a damp cloth or a wet mopping every once in a while, will keep ceramic tile spotless.

Glazed tile has a china-like surface and unglazed tile has a rugged body in which the color is the same throughout, but both will usually respond to a detergent wash when it comes to hard-to-remove dirt.

It is important, the trade association of domestic tile manufactureres notes, to remember to use a soapless detergent, for soap will often leave a dull film on tile surfaces.

In cases where a detergent wash doesn't do the trick, it may be necessary to use a stiff brush and scouring powder to remove a heavy accumulation of dirty film. This should suffice on glazed tile, but on unglazed tile surfaces it may be necessary to scrub or scrape to completely remove a really stubborn coating of grime that has built up over a period of time.

Staining materials hardly ever affect the ceramic tile itself, and the joint or grout between tiles is made of Portland cement which resists cooking greases and oils and solvents and strong alkalis. Nevertheless, it is recomended that spillages be cleaned up as soon as possible.

Joints that may become discolored should first be cleaned with a detergent and thoroughly rinsed. Any remaining discoloration of the joints may then be restored to the original white or natural gray by light scrubbing with a scouring powder.

If the discoloration is a result of grease or oil spillage, a scrubbing with a washing soda or caustic soda may be in order.

ART IS WHERE YOU FIND IT

A new Sunday afternoon pastime blossomed out in the yard of Walter S. Horchler at 78 Martens Boulevard, San Rafael, when the Horchlers and neighbors took to sculpturing. Horchler worked on a penguin perched on a garbage pail even though the poodle would have made a willing model. (Independent-Journal photo)

Wheelwright Offers Land For Park Use

George W. Wheelwright, Marin rancher and conservationist, yesterday offered to donate more than 20 acres to the proposed Tamalpais Community Services District.

The offer is contingent upon voters' approval in the election July 11 to form the district,

The heavily wooded, hilly land is at the west end of Tamalpais Valley, south of Shoreline Highway and west of Northern Avenue. Part of Wheelwright's ranch, it is on the eastern slope of the ridge dividing Tamalpais Valley and Green Gulch.

The offer may be doubled later, said Wheelwright, "depending upon how it works out."

The proposed donation also has a stream running through it. It would be suitable for recreation, hiking, picnicking and supervised overnight camping, said William Hargreaves, chairman of the citizens group urging passage of the proposed district.

The new district would add park and recreation functions to the present sanitary and garbage services provided by Tamalpais Valley Sanitary District. The five incumbent sanitary district directors are the only candidates for the new board.

The first practical use of gas in modern times was in 1792 by Englishman William Murdock who lighted his cottage with manufactured gas, says the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association.

You've had some education?

(Now maybe you'll get some kind of job.)

Some kinds of jobs really aren't much. Not much fun. Not much pay. Not much future, either. And you may have to settle for a job like that . . . if you don't have a good education.

Today, it's a fact. Having some education just isn't enough if you want a good-paying job. To get a good job, you need a good education. It's the first thing employers ask for.

So if you're in school now . . . stay there! Learn all you can for as long as you can. If you're out of school, you can still get plenty of valuable training outside the classroom.

For information, just visit the Youth Counselor at your State Employment Service. Or stop in at a Youth Opportunity Center, which has been set up in many cities to help you.

Novato Police Chase Ends As False Alarm

For a few minutes early this morning, Novato police thought that they had the nation's biggest criminal catch in their grasp.

They thought that they possibly had Alfred and Harold Montoya, Victor Bono and Florenco Mationg, all wanted in connection with the killing of two border patrolmen two weeks ago.

Officer Ronald Schanaker spotted a drab green panel truck headed north on Highway 101 at South Novato Boulevard shortly after midnight The truck fit the discription of the vehicle last reported driven by the four men and thought to have been seen in Oakland.

In addition, the driver of the car resembled one of the Montoya brothers, Officer Schanaker thought as he glimpsed him in the dim light.

Knowing that police have been warned that the four were armed with sub machine guns, Officer Schanaker called for help and followed the car north. Officers Paul Robin and Vernon Davies joined the hunt in their patrol cars and the panel truck was stopped just south of the Sonoma County line. Quickly it was surrounded by officers with their shotguns at the ready.

As it turned out, the truck driver and passenger were innocent residents of Santa Rosa, who were thoroughly unnerved by the dramatic interruption of their homeward trip. Police withheld their names.

In charge of the production are Daniel E. Caldwell, Laurence A. Nelson, Janice S. Villasenor, Douglas Stewart, Margot Jones and Robert Schultz.

Boy Is Victim Of Newspaper Route Book Theft

A forgetful newsboy was victimized last week by a thief who stole his carrier bags and route book.

Greg D. Fink of 1752 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael, an Independent-Journal carrier, set down the bag Wednesday to go get a soft drink, then forgot the bag and went home.

When he returned next day for the bag, it was gone. It wasn't until later the boy learned that whoever took the bag also got the book—and was going along the route collecting his subscription money.

Police told Fink to warn as many of his subscribers as possible, and to have them call if someone else tried to collect.

Crash Kills Dog; Couple Not Hurt

A young couple from the East Bay had a narrow escape but a dog was killed yesterday when their car ran off White's Hill and rolled to a landing 100 feet below Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

A passenger, Christine M. Gock, 18, of Berkeley, was treated for a cut forehead at Marin General Hospital. The driver, Robin K. Wong, 18, of Oakland was buckled into a seat belt and was not injured, but Miss Gock's dog was killed in the crash.

Wong told Fairfax police that his brakes locked causing the car to skid off the road.

when it's had our 16-point Safety and Performance Inspection. That's why we can guarantee 100 PER CENT the repair or replacement of all major mechanical parts for 30 DAYS OR 1,000 MILES. Of course, not every used VW gets this inspection. Only VW's sold by authorized dealers like us.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Age, Sex Among The Factors Determining Lifting Weight

VAN DELLEN

How much can a man carry? The world's weight lifting record might offer a clew but it is not applicable to the working man. Such muscular power involves a technique that is highly developed for this specific purpose.

The carrying process includes lifting, transporting and lowering the load. Age, sex, height and body physique determine the amount of stress tolerated. Health enters the picture because those with heart or lung trouble, circulatory disorders, or arthritis have trouble carrying heavy objects.

SUDDEN HEAVY lifting and prolonged exertion sprain the muscles and joints. These maneuvers may also influence the circulatory organs and aggravate existing defects such as hernia, weakened back, and degenerating disks. Continuous pressure also affects the bones of the feet.

Backache is the most common complaint among those doing heavy work. From 50 to 60 per cent of rural housewives have this trouble. The performance of women in physical work is about 75 per cent that of men due to weaker construction of bones, muscles, and circulatory organs.

A RECENT SURVEY among Finnish agricultural workers revealed that they walked about 720 miles a year and carried loads totaling 7,458,000 pounds annually. Average load weighed less than 22 pounds. Some women had to lift and carry a 110-pound milk can eight times a day and transport 220 pounds by wheelbarrow twice a day. Sixty per cent had backache or trouble with their lower extremities.

By lifting properly, the back is spared considerable strain. If a 55-pound object us lifted with the back fully bent, pressure in the last vertebra is 1,210 pounds. With the back slightly bent, it is 660 pounds. And when the weight is lifted straight upward with the muscles of the lower limbs, it is 330. The moral is obvious — learn how to lift to spare the back.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

SCRUBBING AFTER SURGERY

Mrs. L. E. writes: I had a cataract operation a few months ago and am doing fine. Friends tell me I'll never be able to get down on my knees to scrub floors again. Are they correct?

REPLY

There is no harm in bending over after the eye has healed. I hope this answer does not spoil a good alibi for getting out of scrubbing.

SHOULDER PAIN

J. R. McA. writes: Could soreness in the upper back and left shoulder be a sign of cancer?

REPLY

Remotely, as there is an unusual type of cancer that develops on top of the lung (Pancoast tumor). Pain in the neck and shoulder results. Bursitis, neuritis, and arthritis are more common causes.

IMPENDING STORM

S. W. writes: A forthcoming storm or a change in the weather creates an indescribable urge for a drink. Can you advise?

REPLY

One excuse is as good as another.

SHOULD BE CLEAR

N.C.A. writes: Does a diabetic's urine show sugar every day?

REPLY

Not if he takes care of himself.

B FRACTIONS

P.M. writes: Are inositol and choline vitamins?

REPLY

Yes, they are part of the vitamin B complex.

Today's Health Hint — Knuckle cracking can irritate the joints.

Salt Control Curbs Radioactive Milk

WASHINGTON (SS) — High levels of radioactive iodine in milk can be reduced by regulating a dairy animal's salt intake.

Experiments by Jesse Y. Harris of the Public Health Service's National Center for Radiological Health in Rockville, Md., indicate that if milk contains too much radioiodine its level can be reduced by increasing the salt consumption.

Although Harris did his experiments on goats, the results could be more widely applied.

For several years, Harris has studied the effects of radianuclide contamination in the environment and especially in food. Radioactive iodine, strontium, cesium and barium are among the products formed when nuclear devices are exploded or nuclear fission products are inadvertently released into the atmosphere.

Some of these fission products are concentrated by plants and animals that serve as man's food. Once taken into the body, the radionuclides are deposited in tissue fluids or within the cells, source of potential damage.

Because milk constitutes a large part of the diet of children within the U.S., it can be particularly hazardous. Harris therefore investigated the possibility of altering the metabolism of radioactive iodine in milk-producing goats in order to reduce milk's radioactive iodine content.

He found that iodine elimination from goats is dependent on salt intake and kidney function; the radioiodine level in animals fed salt being about half that in animals deprived of salt.

Marin Schools May Test Texts

Marin County may become a field test center for new social studies instruction if the Board of Education approves a $138,000 federally funded proposal Wendesday.

Because of the holiday, the board's regular meeting has been changed from Monday to 8 p.m. Wednesday, at the county superintendent of schools office, 201 Tamal Vista Boulevard, Corte Madera.

Teachers, superintendents and school board trustees are interested in testing new material in economics, geography, anthropology, history, political science and sociology for grades kindergarten through 12, according to Asst. Supt. Stanley H. Friese. He said make up will be comparable in it makeup to the new mathematics.

Youth Is Booked In Burglary

A 17-year-old San Anselmo youth was booked at Juvenile Hall and charged with burglarizing a Coke machine at a Novato filling station and with curfew violation, by San Anselmo police early this morning.

His companion, Gordon Jennings, 19, of 25 Sierra Vista Way, Novato, was booked by San Anselmo police at the county jail on charges of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

The two were arrested at 4:50 a.m. in San Anselmo after Novato police radioed that the youths' car was heading for the area. Officers found a crowbar, hammer and screwdriver in the back seat.

Apartment Fire Closes Road

A Sausalito apartment fire Saturday night closed the Sausalito lateral almost two hours.

California Highway patrolmen diverted Sausalito traffic north to Spencer Avenue, and police received several complaints from residents on Spencer Avenue about the traffic.

Firemen said Mrs. Bert M. Rettner, 119 South Street, reported at 10:30 p.m. that wiring to an electric range was smoking and sparking. The wiring was faulty, firemen found after the fire.

Fire, smoke and water damage to the structure and personal property was estimated at $5,000.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Summer Shows Show Desegregation Gains

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The evolution of racial desegregation in network television entertainment is obvious to anyone who watches the home tube with regularity. CBS-TV's new summer variety series, "Our Place," which arrived last night, is a case in point.

Not too many years back, it would have been virtually taboo for a network to present, say, a dance in which a girl and boy of the white and Negro races performed, even fleetingly, as a couple. It now happens relatively frequently, however, and the premiere of "Our Place" was yet another example.

The new series, which replaces the Smothers Brothers variety hour for the vacation period, stars the Doodletown Pipers, an integrated singing group of 20 handsome youngsters who also do some cleverly choreographed steps. The other stars are the comedy partners Jack Burns and Avery Schreiber.

Except for a few engaging bits and the settings of Charles Lisanby, the opener was pretty much of the summer filler class. Like another TV summer starting acts. On "Away We the debut of "Our Place" lacked a magnetic focal point because of the co-billed nature of the atarring acts. On "Away We Go," the three stars are George Carlin, Buddy Greco and Buddy Ricy, and the viewer doesn't know exactly which to turn to when things need a pickup.

At any rate, this lack of a focal point gave the premiere of "Our Place" a generally aimless quality. Burns and Schreiber did a reprise of their sketch of a long-suffering taxi driver and a nuisance passenger, and it was funny and had some political and social bite as well. And guest star Carol Burnett had a funny bit in which she illustrated how a nightclub singer in an old television movie sometimes sounds because of the patched-up film.

For the most part, however, the comedy material was sub-par, and Burns and Schreiber, unless they can make their own personal material stretch over the summer season, may have problems with the skits provided for them.

The Doodletown Pipers are amiable enough, although I frankly don't find them enormously entertaining, but merely pleasant when they sing a song I particularly like. They don't have the ability to sock home the ordinary with exceptional showmanship. But there are individuals among them who are standouts. One of them, a Negro girl whose name is not on my CBS-TV credit sheet, was easily the showstopper last night in a song she did near the end, with a few dance steps thrown in. She has a fine and unique voice, a pleasant delivery, a wholesome appearance, and seems like star material.

"Yeah, I know, but who cares about making the ol' FLOWERS grow?"

ALMANAC

Today is Monday, July 3, the 184th day of 1967 with 181 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and new stage. The morning star is Saturn. The evening stars are Venus, Mars and Jupiter.

Born on this day in 1900 was American author John Mason Brown.

On this day in history:

In 1775, George Washington assumed command of the Continental Army in Cambridge, Mass.

In 1819, the Bank of Savings in New York City became the first of its kind to open with 80 depositors on the first day putting into their accounts $2,807.

In 1892, workers at the Carnegie Steel Co., in Homestead, Pa., went on strike. Before it was over on Nov. 20, 1892, seven guards along with 11 strikers and spectators had been fatally shot.

A thought for the day — French novelist Anatole France once said: "People who have no weaknesses are terrible; there is no way to take advantage of them."

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

American Team Needed More Tough Breaks To Win Title

If the North American bridge team had run into enough bad breaks it might have beaten Italy a few weeks ago in the annual world championship.

In today's hand, for example, the Americans made a profit out of hard luck.

Opening lead — ◇ 8

In the first room of the match New Yorkers Alvin Roth and Bill Root stopped short at four spades.

Because of foul breaks in diamonds and clubs Root could win only 11 tricks.

In the second room Benito Garozzo and Pietro Forquet reached the bold but reasonable contract of six spades.

With normal breaks they would make the slam and score a neat profit; with the actual breaks the Italians lost heavily.

More than 500 enthusiasts, watching the match on an electric board in the ballroom of the Americana Hotel in Miami Beach, held their breath as Norman Kay considered his opening lead.

If Kay lead a club or a heart Garozzo might bring the slam home despite the bad breaks.

BEST LEAD

We all breathed out in unison when Kay led his singleton diamond.

Garozzo won in dummy with the ace of diamonds and returned the jack of clubs.

Edgar Kaplan covered with the queen of clubs, and Garozzo took the ace of clubs and led his other diamond.

After some thought Kay discarded a heart, correctly decided that a ruff would help declarer.

Garozzo won in dummy and led a club, trying a finesse with the eight.

Kay won with the 10 of clubs and once more we all held our breath since a spade or heart return would allow declarer to make his slam.

Kay actually continued a perfect defense by returning a club.

Garozzo discarded a heart from dummy, and Kaplan's ruff defeated the contract.

Unfortunately for them, the Americans didn't have enough bad luck to win the world championship.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one diamond, and the next player passes.

You hold:

♠ A Q 10 4 2
♥ J 2
♦ 6 2
♣ A K 9 8.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one spade.

In American bidding systems you show the longer of two biddable suits first (spades ahead of clubs, in this case). Italian experts bid the shorter suit first to show a good hand.

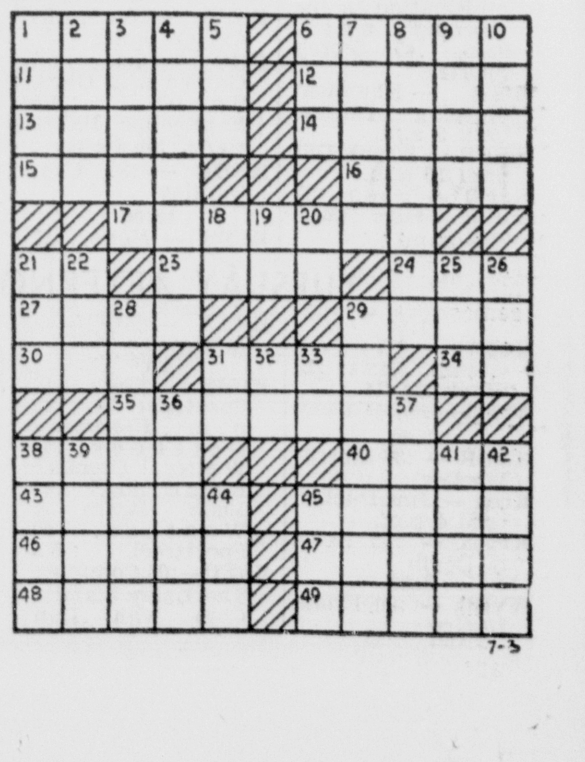
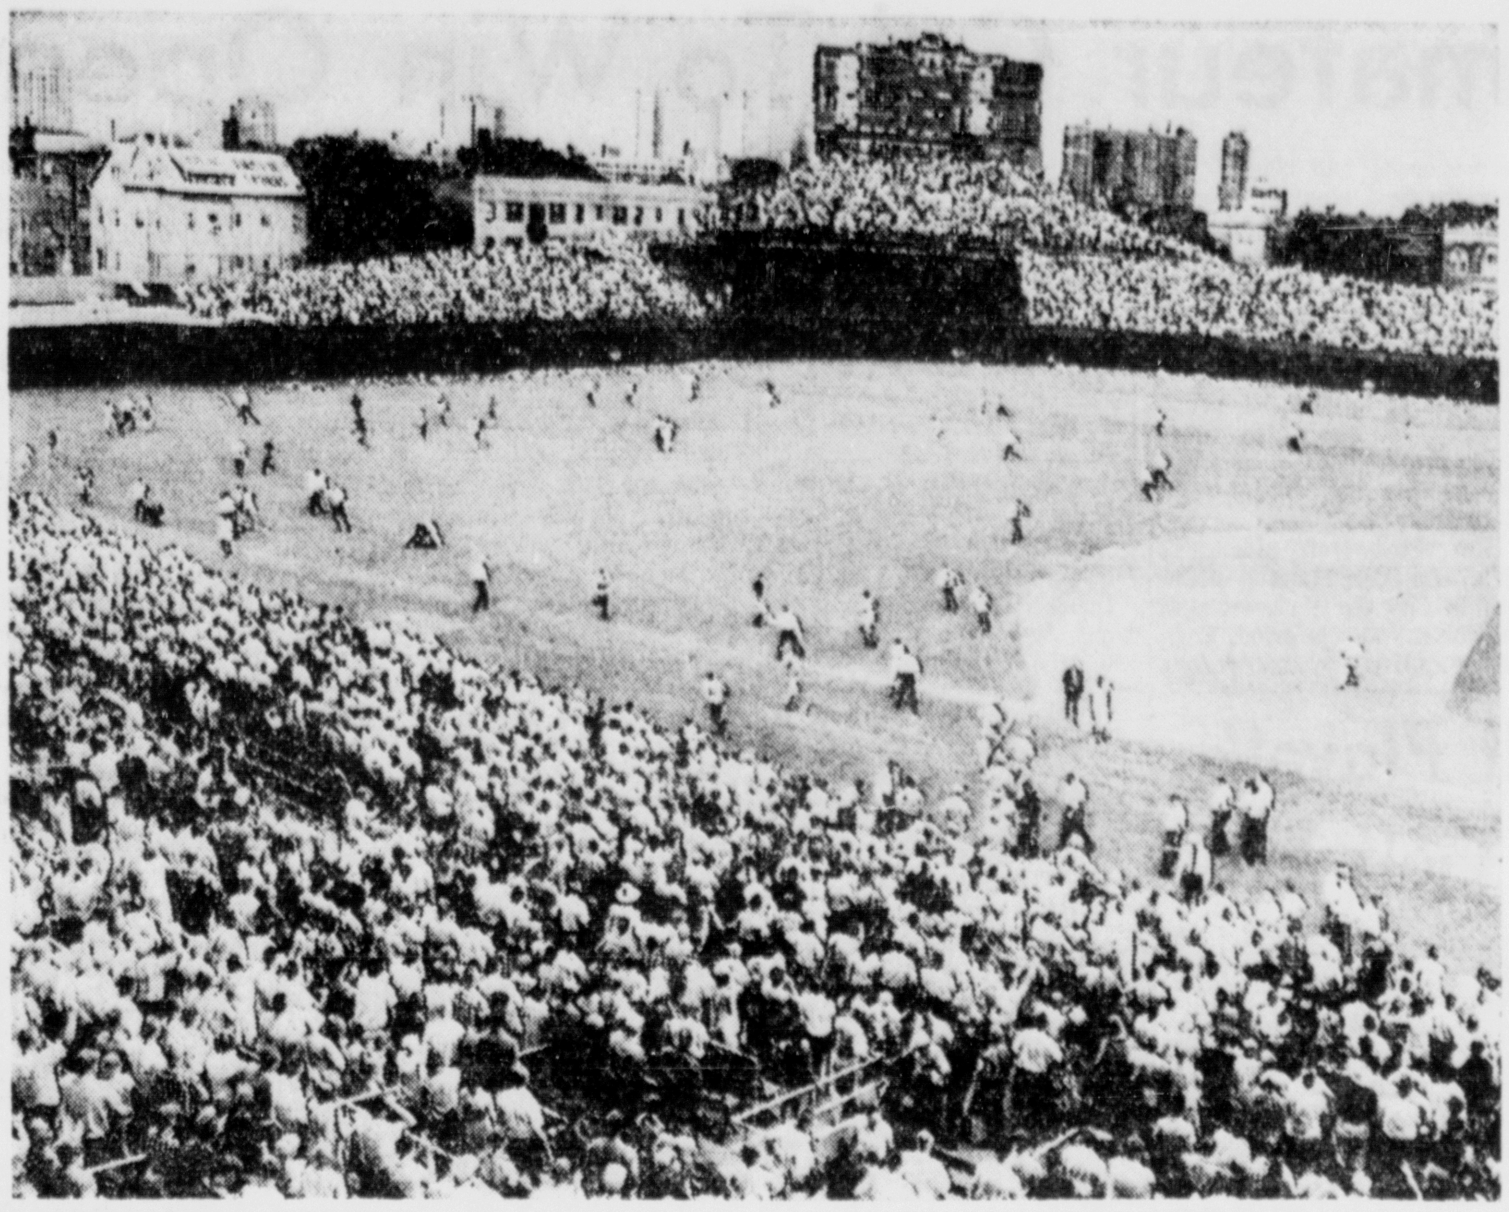
Saturday's Answer





"YOU ARE THERE"—Jubilant Cub fans poured onto Wrigley Field in Chicago after their heroes tied for the National League lead yesterday. (UPI Telephoto)

JIM GILMARTIN

We're Feeling Low Now, But Just Wait And See

OLD PEERLESS—Today I'm feeling lower than a well-digger's soggy posterior and bluer than a Sicilian grape crusher's soles and my only consolation is a glance at the calendar.

At the start of this baseball season old peerless Shamus forecast the National League race, rating San Francisco No. 1 and Chicago No. 10. Which at this moment is as wrong as one can get without landing in jail. This parallels the Nixon-Edsel and Cepeda-Sadecki parlays for bum steers.

On April 10, in my annual fearless forecast, I used horse racing terminology in rating Chicago 10th as a 100-1 shot because the Cubs ". . . probably need the outing."

To compound my nonsense I interviewed the little cupcakes in our society department, feeling a breath of fresh air in the sports section would do them some good after their confinement in the baggage department among the lingerie ads.

Society Gal And Her Peerless Pick

Well, that was a mistake. Society scrivener Lois Sens fearlessly forecast a pennant for the Cubs. I quoted her thusly: "Miss Sens senselessly but perhaps sentimentally scents a flag for the Chicago Cubs. (I kid you not.) She picks the Houston Astros to finish second (to the Russians?) and the Giants third. (No one has told her about the Cubs, obviously.)"

So now you can understand my chagrin, now that those Sens-sational Cubs are in first place. But, like I said, my only consolation is the calendar. I keep telling myself that it can't last, that midnight will soon arrive for the Cinderella Cubs. And Miss Sens, the smartie, will get her come-uppance and Old Shamus will be right again, that the Giants will be first, the Cubs last and Miss Sens will be back in the Sens-less society department where she belongs.

Just you wait and see.

In the meantime, have a happy Quart of July. I'll see you on the Fifth.

Collett Will Be Center For 49ers

ELMER COLLETT of Mill Valley, a guard in his San Francisco State football career, will be converted to a center when he reports to the San Francisco 49er training camp July 22, Coach Jack Christiansen informs us.

Collett, a 6-foot-4, 230-pounder, was the 49ers' No. 14 draft choice as a redshirt last year. He is the second Tam High grad on the Prospectors' roster, following in the footsteps of Matt Hazeltine.

MEL GRAY, Montgomery (Santa Rosa) High School's many-splendored thing, will enroll at University of Missouri and should be able to show the Show-Me natives a thing or two.

Marvelous Mel has run the 100 in 9.4 seconds, the curvaceous furlong in 20.7 and has long-jumped 24 feet, 1¼ inches, second only to Rick Barry who jumped across San Francisco Bay.

Mel also carries imposing football credentials to Missouri. He's a member of the North All-Star grid team for next month's Shrine Classic in Los Smogeles.

Gray was born and raised in Marin but his family moved to Santa Rosa several years ago, depriving us of his great talents.

Two Wins For Novato

Novato American Legion Post 540 won two more baseball games this weekend to run its record to 6-1.

A three-run home run by Tom Corder and Mike Timmel's five-hit pitching paced the Novato Club to a 4-0 win over Napa Saturday at Napa.

Yesterday they traveled to Vallejo and beat Post 550 7-2 as Frank Perachiotti smacked four hits and Russ Dillon allowed the Vallejo team the same number.

Tomorrow Novato hosts the Vacaville Legion team at 3 p.m.

Chicago Cubs' Fans Are Really Going Wild

CHICAGO (AP) — Mass hysterria is sweeping ancient Wrigley Field these days and the only guy it doesn't seem to bother is Ferguson Jenkins, the Canadian-born right-hander who wants to become a millionaire.

A crowd of 40,464 not only cheered every move the Chicago Cubs made yesterday, but also played the game of scoreboard."

Everytime the New York Mets scored a run against the St. Louis Cardinals, the crowd let out a deafening roar. And when the final score of New York 5, St. Louis 4 went up, they cheered so loud and long that the Cub game was held up momentarily. The Cards regained a share of first place by downing the Mets 3-1 in the second game.

"I couldn't swing the bat one time when they cheered," laughed Ron Santo. "I just froze and darned if it wasn't a big fat pitch."

"Unbelieveable," said Billy Williams. "They actually gave me goose bumps."

Long after the game was over, the crowd hung around the dressing room chanting "We want Leo. We want Leo."

"They're not going to get me out there," said Manager Leo Durocher. "The only time I've seen it like this was when Bobby Thomson hit the homer to win the pennant for the Giants in 1951."

Veteran pitcher Curt Simmons recalled the fans in St. Louis played scoreboard when the Cardinals clinched the pennant in 1964 while Philadelphia was defeating Cincinnati "but that was the final day of the season," said Curt, "not July 2."

Don Larsen, who joined the Cubs last Saturday, kept shaking his head. "If the Cubs win the pennant they'll tear this place down. No, I didn't know what was going on when I pitched a perfect game in the World Series. I was in a stupor. But this thing here I can watch and see."

The crowd had everyone hopped up except Jenkins who calmly hurled the Cubs to their sixth straight victory and 13th in the last 14 games as he notched his 11th triumph against five defeats.

Jenkins allowed only three hits and contributed a run-scoring triple and a double.

Jenkins, who came to the Cubs from Philadelphia as a relief pitcher last year, became a starter late in 1966 and won his last four games. He's going along with pitching coach Joe Becker who tells his corps "stick with me and I'll make you a millionaire."

"That's what he tells me and I'm going along with him," laughed Jenkins. "He says two good years and then you get the big money. I'm the kind of guy who really needs it. I'm sure trying for it and this winning becomes fun. The way we're going, we might even win the pennant."

Indian Valley, Presidio Top DiMag Loop

Indian Valley Lumber and the Presidio teams share top rung in the new Marin County Joe DiMaggio Baseball League following yesterday's action.

Indian Valley, composed mainly of Redwood High School players, knocked off previously-unbeaten Marin Cleaners 10-4 while the Presidio kept pace by nipping San Rafael 3-2 in eight innings. Yesterday's other game saw the Mill Valley Chiefs hand San Anselmo its second loss, 9-1.

Indian Valley came from behind to soil the Cleaners on the heavy hitting of Jim Scoville, Ken Johnson and Keith Valk. Scoville hit a two run homer, Johnson a triple and Valk had his second straight perfect day with four hits, giving him eight consecutive safeties.

At the Presidio, Steve Trona's eighth inning triple scored Mike Edson with the winning run.

At Mill Valley, righthander Pete Senter pitched a three-hitter, striking out five and walking three to give the Chiefs their first victory. Robbie Nelson's triple and double, Pat Schafer's three singles and Mike Einstein's two-run double led the Chiefs.

Tom Laris Wins Race In Tiburon

Tom Laris of the New York Athletic Club came from behind in the last mile Saturday to win the 8.9-mile Tiburon Run in record time.

Chris Miller of Los Altos led until Laris, runnerup in both the Boston Marathon and last week's AAU 10,000-meter race, caught him and won going away. The winning time was 42:57.8, while Miller was second in 43:20.

Both beat the course record of 43:35.0 set by Tom Tuite of San Jose State College in 1965.

Daryl Beardall of the Marin Athletic Club was the only Marin runner to finish in the top 10. He came home in 45:05.

Last year's co-winners, Rich Delgado of the Athens A.C., and Jim Sullivan of the West Valley A.C., finished third and fifth, respectively. Delgado's time was 43:38, Sullivan's 45:02. Fourth was Chris Houk of the Nevada Track Club in 43:59.

Laris will run 10,000 meters against world-record holder Ron Clarke of Australia next week in the U.S.-British Commonwealth meet in Los Angeles.

Other Marin finishers (all Marin A.C.) in the field of 150-plus: Darren Walton, 11th; Pete Wood, 26th; Ray Menzie, 28th; John Noonan, 31st; Bob Bunnell, 46th.

Rather Win, Says Hart; Giants To Open Met Set

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — "It was all for nothing," sighed Jim Ray Hart as the San Francisco Giants' outfielder-third baseman sat disconsolately in front of his locker.

Hart had a fine day in the series finale yesterday against the Philadelphia Phillies—two doubles, a single, a sacrifice fly and three RBI.

There was only one thing wrong. The Giants lost.

Despite Hart's fine stickwork, the Phillies pulled an 8-7 victory with three-run rallies in the eighth and ninth innings. John Callison's two-run double with two out in the last of the ninth turned Hart's champagne to beer.

The 26-year-old Hart was happy to get his three hits and drive in the runs, but he pointed out the idea of this game of baseball still was to win.

"I know it brings up the average, but it's tough to lose," he mumbled.

Hart has had a busy bat since Thursday when he drove home four runs in a victory over the St. Louis Cardinals. In the second game of Friday's twi-night doubleheader against the Phillies he sent home four more, as the Giants won 12-3.

Saturday night, his double, the first extra base hit off Philadelphia's star reliever, Dick Hall, in eight games since June 10, sent in the deciding run in a 3-2 San Francisco victory.

Hart said he could appreciate the nine runs he accounted for in the three victories, but the three yesterday—making it 12 RBI in five games—were kind of wasted.

Hart was off to a slow start this season, hitting only .167 in April. He began to find the groove, however, in May, with a .315 month, including four home runs and 19 RBI. In June, he kept it going with a .292 month, six more homers and 23 RBI. He's leading the Giants at the all important job of batting in runs with 48, and has boosted his over-all average to .279.

"I don't worry about the average as against the RBI," Hart said. "If you're driving in runs the average will come with them."

DOUBLEHEADER TOMORROW

San Rafael Braves Win Three From Ukiah Nine

Three fine pitching efforts and Ron Gasper's destructive hitting paced the San Rafael Braves semi-pro baseball club to three victories over the winless Ukiah Merchants this past weekend at Albert Field, San Rafael.

This handiwork gave the Braves a 10-2 record in the Coastal Division of the Western Baseball Association, which they lead by 3½ games over Santa Rosa.

The pitching heroics came from Ben Burch, newcomer Keith Walters and reliever Ben Trujillo. Burch and Walters breezed to 6-1 and 7-1 vicotries, but Trujillo had to hurl 5⅓ scoreless innings in the second game of yesterday's doubleheader before his mates could score in the ninth inning for a 5-4 win.

Casper drove in five runs and was on base eight times during the three games. He went one for two in each, a modest performance except for the fact that each of his three hits was the key blow in a Brave win.

He doubled with the bases loaded Saturday night in behalf of Burch, sparked a four-run inning in the first game yesterday with a bases-loaded single and scored the winning run in the nightcap after singling to lead off the ninth.

Gasper's single in yesterday's opener was half the Braves' hitting accomplishments, but Ukiah hurler George Wolger ruined himself by missing home plate as he eluded the Brave bats.

He walked 10, added one of three Ukiah errors and the result was that all of the seven Brave runs were scored by men who did not get base hits.

Two of these tallies were scored by Walters, who respond-

CASPER THE GHOST—Nobody paid any attention to Billy Casper as Art Wall Jr. fended off other challengers in yesterday's fourth round of the Canadian Open golf tourney, but Wily William tied Wall on the 18th hole to force a playoff today. Naturally, this called for a toast. (UPI Telephoto)

Casper, Art Wall In Playoff

MONTREAL (AP) — Billy Casper is the invisible man of golf. He was subjected to coast-to-coast television coverage in two nations — and no one noticed him until the last five minutes.

But suddenly he was there, center stage in the high drama, on his knees and his arms raised in exultation — a birdie putt in the cup and the pressure on Art Wall, the greying, suddenly-shaken veteran, who stumbled to a bogey.

And when Wall's five-foot putt curled two inches from the hole, the $200,000 Canadian Open Golf championship was tied and its $30,000 first prize still up for grabs.

"I had two things going for me on 18," said Casper, the two-time U.S. Open champ with the exotic diet. "I knew that if I made that putt I was in second all alone. And I knew that if Art missed it — and the pressure would be on him — a playoff was there."

PLAYOFF

That's the way it worked out, the two tied at 279 with an 18-hole playoff today. Sasper shot a 69 Sunday and Wall a 72.

The playoff started at 11:15 a.m. PDT, and will be televised nationally in two countries, CBS-TV from 2-3 p.m., in the United States and CBC-TV from 4:30-6 p.m. in Canada.

Casper and Wall were one stroke ahead of Steve Reid, 71, Jack Nicklaus, 69, and 47-year-old Julius Boros, 68, all at 280. PGA champ Al Geiberger was alone at 281 after a 71. Grouped at 282 were Arnold Palmer, 70, Tommy Aaron, 70, and Gene Littler, 71.

Wall, a 44-year-old former Masters and Canadian Open champ who led the second and third rounds, had a two-stroke lead going into the rain-interrupted final round yesterday on the 6,600 yard, par 71 Montreal municipal course.

He was implaccable and unperturbed as first Nicklaus, the chubby U.S. Open champ, and then Reid, a 30-year-old part-timer on the pro tour, made runs at him.

CHARGES

Each got to within one stroke at one time or another, and each bid faltered and died on the par 3 17th, the bumpy, brown, grassless green that has caused so much trouble in this tournament. Both Nicklaus and Reid bogeyed the hole, both

WIMBLEDON

Newcombe, Taylor Make Semi-Finals

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — John Newcombe of Australia stormed into the men's singles semifinals of the Wimbledon Lawn Tennis Championships today by defeating countryman Ken Fletcher 6-4, 6-2, 6-4.

Roger Taylor of Britain also advanced to the semifinal round with a 6-4, 8-6, 6-4 triumph over Australian left-hander Ray Ruffels.

Mrs. Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Calif., and Rosemary Casals of San Francisco won their third round women's doubles match, 6-4, 6-2 over Mrs. Donna Fales of New York and Mrs. Betty Prat of Maitland, Fla.

Newcombe, the No. 3 seed, will be the only ranked player in the men's semifinals. Fletcher, No. 6 was the only other surviving seed when the quarter-finals started. No Americans are left in the men's competition.

Newcombe, looking very sharp, demolished Fletcher with an effective display of serving and volleying. Fletcher's game went to pieces in the second set as Newcombe ran up a 4-0 lead. Any hope Fletcher had of winning the match vanished when Newcombe broke his service in the opening game of the third ton to move into the men's semifinals since Mike Sangster in 1961. Taylor and Ruffels each broke service in the second set, and the score went to 6-6 before Taylor broke through again to take a 7-6 lead and wound up the set on his own service.

Mrs. King will lead three other Americans into the women's quarter-finals tomorrow. The others are Miss Casals, Mary Ann Eisel of St. Louis and Kathy Harter of Seal Beach, Calif.

Van Dillen Wins Tennis Title

SAN JOSE (UPI) — Erick Van Dillen, junior U.S. Davis Cup star from San Mateo, captured the boys 18 singles title Saturday with a 6-2, 6-1, 6-2 romp over favored Jeff Borowiak of Lafayette.

The two Bay Area stars now move on to the U.S. junior hardcourts at Burlingame this week. Don Lutz of Los Angeles is top-seeded with Borowiak and Van Dillen next.

Girls 18 singles crown went to Vicki Rogers of Rye, N.Y., who took a 6-3, 6-2 win from lefty Kristy Pigeon, pretty blonde from Danville, Calif.

Other winners included Marcelyn Louie and Gail Hansen in the girls 14 and 16, Paul Sidone in the boys 16, Jake Warde of Denver in the boys 14 and Mac Claflin and Bill Colson in the boys 18 doubles.

Year's First Loss

The Tiburon Peninsula Club dropped its first Marin Swim League meet of the season last week to Marinwood 343-129 at Tiburon.

PEACEMAKER—There may still be a score unsettled among these four Michigan State and Notre Dame football players (recall their famous 10-10 tie of last Nov. 19?), but harmony reigns as long as Ronnie Bloxham is around to soothe the savage beasts. She is Miss Coaches All-America, the queen of the All-Star footbal game to be played in Atlanta Saturday night. Her four escorts (from left) are Gene Washington and George Webster of Michigan State and Nick Eddy and Jim Lynch of Notre Dame, members of the East team. (UPI Telephoto)

First Amateur Gal To Win Open

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP) — "I don't know why I won," said the new U.S. Women's Open golf champion, resplendent in aqua skirt and blue jacket with bemedaled lapels. "I think they helped me win."

"They" were the chastened professional golfers, and they knew just what raven-haired Catherine Lacoste of Paris meant in her modest little speech outside the clubhouse of the Cascades Course late yesterday afternoon.

In this 22nd U.S. Women's Open, the 22-year-old French mademoiselle had become not only the first amateur ever to win, but the first foreigner and the youngest player, as well. She won with a strong 294 — 10 over par for a tough, taxing course.

But she had help from even the best of a corps of proud professionals who many times in the Open's last two days had opportunities to win — and could not grasp them.

Beth Stone of Muskegee, Okla., and Susie Maxwell of Oklahoma City came closest with 296s for the 72-hole grind. Each picked up five strokes in yesterday's final round with three-over-par 74s while Miss Lacoste was soaring to a 79.

Miss Stone and Miss Maxwell each collected $3,600 as the top-finishing pros.

Three pros who shot 297s — Murle Lindstrom of Ft. Wayne, Ind., with a final round 75; two-time champion Louise Suggs of Delray Beach, Fla., 73, and Sandra Haynie of Ft. Worth, Tex., 71 — each took home $1,033 for sharing fourth place.

Then, at 300, good for $750, came Australian Margie Masters, who began the last round five strokes behind but blew a great chance by closing with an 80.

The sturdily-built, exuberant Miss Lacoste, who had previous rounds of 71-70-74, was three over par on the front nine yesterday, then bogeyed the first five holes of the back nine and found herself in peril.

After the 14th, she was only one stroke ahead of Miss Suggs; after the 16th, one in front of Miss Stone.

Miss Suggs, however, demolished her own cause by double-bogeying the lake-fronted 16th. And, after bogeying the 16th, Miss Lacoste took care of Miss Stone's bid by rolling in a 10-foot putt for a birdie at the 17th.

"It wasn't until I made that putt that I felt sure I'd win," said the engaging new champion. "I played like a clod today. I was nervous all afternoon — nervous and tense. The way I was playing, I was sure the whole time I was going to lose it.

"Some people said I wasn't worried. It was nonsense. In a championship you cannot but be nervous."

Casper, Wall Playoff For Canada Golf Title

missing the green.

Casper, who came from seven strokes off the pace with nine holes to play to tie Palmer and eventually beat him in a playoff for the 1966 U.S. Open championship, was completely obscured in the Nicklaus-Reid charges.

"I was five strokes back going to the 12th," said Casper. "Most players would have quit there. But I'm not made that way. I kept playing the best I could.

"Pressure doesn't bother me," said the one-time fat man, who lost 50 pounds on a diet of buffalo and bear steaks and blueberries. "In fact, I thrive on it."

BIRDIE

Billy, probably one of the best golfers in the world but missing the publicity of Nicklaus and Palmer because of his lack of color, made up two of those five strokes on No. 12.

He dropped in a 25 foot birdie putt while Wall took a bogey. An eight-foot birdie putt on the 17th cut another stroke off Wall's lead.

But still the attention was centered on Nicklaus and Reid, who were just finishing.

Casper and Wall each reached the green of the par five 18th in three, Billy with a 10-foot putt and Wall with a 20-footer. Art missed his, going five feet past the cup. Casper studied his, then stepped back and studied it again, before running it in. Wall missed his coming back.

San Rafael Braves Win All Three

ed handsomely to Wolger's charity by pitching shutout ball until the seventh and final inning.

In fact, both Burch and Walters came within a single out of a shutout as they found the Merchants to be good strikeout men. Burch fanned nine in his nine innings, while Walters, hard-throwing righthander from San Jose, struck out 10 in seven frames.

Gasper was aided in his offensive chores principally by outfielder Jerry Bosch and third baseman Paul Giambra. Bosch rapped four hits and scored five runs, while Giambra, who did not play in the opener yesterday, went three for six in the other two games and singled home the winning run in the second game of the double-header.

Three Marin athletes played for Ukiah. Fred Daniele (Terra Linda High) pitched and played third base, while Rocky Shone (San Rafael) caught all three games and Jay Widmer (San Rafael) played left field in two of them. Daniele had two hits in the series, the others one apiece.

The Braves will entertain the Pleasant Hill Rebels in a non-league doubleheader starting at noon tomorrow at Albert Field.

63-Year-Old Player Wins Net Tourney

Sixty-three-year-old Joe Wagner of Corte Madera won the round-robin tennis tournament in the Corte Madera-Larkspur July 4 Festival Friday.

Mrs. Joseph Personeni of Greenbrae was second and Joe Bare of Corte Madera third.

The players each played 21 games of doubles. Wagner amassed 15 points to 14 for Mrs. Personeni.

Meanwhile, four Marin swim clubs held their holiday fireworks in the Redwood High School pool Friday and Saturday in an AAU meet sponsored by the Chambers of Commerce of the two communities.

Star of the show was Denise Locati of the Tiburon Pelicans, who won all four of the girls 11-12 events.

Mark Strange of the Marin Swim Club won three boys 15-17 events, while Kevin Sindelar of the Marinwood Water Devils matched that in the boys 13-14 class. Mark's brother, Keith, took two of the boys 11-12 events.

Other double winners were Elizabeth Enright, Marinwood, girls 8 and under; Doug Tyler, Marinwood, boys 8 and under; Nancy Stratton, San Rafael Swim Club, girls 9-10; Chris DeMont, Tiburon, girls 13-14, and Karen Sundquist, Marin, girls 13-14.

Football In July: One Player Already Hurt

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) —A favored East squad faced a possible lineup change — or the addition of a replacement player—today in preparation for Saturday night's All-American football game.

Billy Schroer, defensive tackle and starting linebacker for Georgia Tech the past three falls, suffered a freak injury during a dummy scrimmage yesterday and an examination was expected to determine his availability for the contest. If he is ruled out, the East is expected to add a replacement.

Schroer was injured near the close of yesterday's short workout. His cleats caught in the turf as he pivoted for a turn and his left knee popped out as he went down.

He was still on crutches hours later.

Despite the injury, East Coach Tom Cahill of Army was optimistic as he talked in terms of aerial improvements shown by quarterbacks Steve Spurrier and Bob Grieses.

"Both of them seemed much sharper than they had Saturday and) (Gene) Washington and (Dave) Dunaway have looked good receiving," he declared. "Our biggest problem still is coordinating our passing game. . . that and getting down the overall offensive timing."

West Coach Bob Devaney echoed Cahill's comments, then added:

"Both our quarterbacks, Bob Burris and Jon Brittenum, threw better today. They're still not at what you might call mid-season form, but I think they'll be ready by Saturday night.

Devaney called depth his biggest worry, particularly in the line and defensive backfield.

Evans Upset Smith

HONOLULU (AP) — Lee Evans of San Jose State upset his teammate, world record holder Tommiee Smith, in the 220-yard dash in the Hawaii Invitational Track and Field Meet Saturday night. Evans' winning time was 20.8 seconds.

Sohner Loses Softball Game

Sohner Tree Service softballers of San Anselmo led the Fairchild Falcons of Mountain View for four innings Saturday before the third place finishers in last year's World Softball Tournament erupted for a 7-2 victory over the Treemen in the Hayward Invitational Tournament.

The San Anselmo club had earned the right to play Fairchild in the single-elimination tournament by dumping Daily Chevrolet of San Leandro 7-0 Thursday.

With the aid of two crucial Sohner errors, the Mountain View club broke the game wide open in the fifth with a four-run rally. Fairchild collected nine hits off a pair of Sohner hurlers while the Treemen could muster only five safeties.

M-M-MAGNIFICO, CHAMP!

Some mayors give celebrities keys to their cities, but Mayoress Dona Felisa Rincon de Gautier of San Juan, Puerto Rico, did better than that for lightweight champion Carlos Ortiz Saturday night after he scored a technical knockout of Sugar Ramos of Mexico in the fourth round of their title bout. Ortiz won a hefty purse as well as a hug from Her Honor. (UPI Telephoto)

Jim Barnes Jumps Back To L. A. Lakers Of NBA

COMBINED AP & UPI

LOS ANGELES—While a host of other players are jumping from the National Basketball Association into the newly established American Basketball Association, Jim Barnes has decided to go the other way.

The 6-8, 225-pound forward signed a one-year contract Saturday with the Los Angeles Lakers after at first declaring he would play for the new Dallas club of the ABA.

The Lakers had threatened to file a breach of contract suit against Barnes after "Bad News" had signed a one-year pact with Dallas.

Meanwhile, Barnes is making progress in his recovery from a torn Achilles tendon which he suffered in the final Laker playoff game last season at San Francisco.

10,000 Attend Carnera's Last Rites

SEQUALS, Italy (AP) — Almost 10,000 persons paid tribute to former world heavyweight boxing champion Primo Carnera at his funeral last night.

The giant known as "The Ambling Alp", who died at 60, three days ago after sickness had wasted him away, was carried in a long cortege into the Sequals village church for a Roman Catholic service.

His grieving widow walked down the same aisle that had led her to the altar in 1939 to marry Carnera. Waiting there for the coffin and the mourners was the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Giuseppe Della Pozza, who had celebrated the nuptials 28 years ago.

With them walked, as an honor guard, current world middleweight boxing champion Nino Benvenuti and retired European welterweight champion Duilio Loi.

The mayor of Sequals, the town council, provincial authorities and officials of the Italian National Olympic Committee mingled with the people of Sequals in the sweltering July heat at dusk. Thousands could find no room in the little north Italian church and saw the coffin only as it passed by on the dusty road coming and going.

More than 40 floral wreaths filled flower cars and lay about the catafalque during the funeral. Mrs. Carnera's remembrance, a wreath of red roses, was placed on the coffin.

Carnera had returned to Sequals from Los Angeles in May to spend his last days at his own villa. He was already drawn and bony from the liver cirrhosis that was drawing away his strength and his life.

Another Record

SWEETWATER, Texas (UPI) —Slingin' Sammy Baugh is best known as former outstanding forward passer for Texas Christian University and the Washington Redskins. Yet, it was Baugh who set a record of four pass interceptions in one game against the Detroit Lions in 1943. This record has been tied many times but never broken in the National Football League.

Muhammad Ali, Alias Cassius, Preaches In S.F.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Muhammad Ali, who dislikes his former heavyweight monicker of Cassius Clay "because it's a slave name," preached at Muhammad's Mosque 26 in the predominantly Negro Fillmore District yesterday.

An overflow crowd thronged the 1,000-seat Mosque, and a line of persons stretched a full block even after he began speaking.

White persons, including newsmen, were not permitted to enter.

Ali is currently appealing his conviction for refusal to cooperate with the draft, on grounds that he is a Muslim minister. His boxing title was lifted after he declined induction.

Records Fall At Women's AAU Track Championships

SANTA BARBARA (AP) — American gals head for international competition after tying a world record and setting three American records in the AAU National women's track and field championships.

Next Saturday and Sunday in Los Angeles, the United States men's and women's teams face the British Commonwealth squad, and then comes qualifying for the Pan-American Games.

Fleet Barbara Ferrell, a 19-year-old from Los Angeles, sped to an 11.1 clocking in the 100-meter dash to equal the world record shared by three others.

She suffered a muscle cramp in the 200, but still finished third.

Charlette Cooke, another Los Angeles product but now running out of Washington, D.C., lowered her American record in the 400, but Madeline Manning of Tennessee State took one away from Charlette in the 800.

Miss Cooke ran the 400 in 52.5 seconds, but finished third to Miss Manning, who lowered the 800 mark to 2:03.6 while beating Seattle's Doris Brown in a stretch drive.

Tennessee State successfully defended its team championship with 77 points and lowered the 800-meter medley relay record.

The team of UNA Morris, Marcella Daniel, Mattline Render and Miss Manning ran a 1:41.7, lowering the mark of 1:43.1 it set in the prelims.

Chicago's Mayor Daley Youth Foundation finished second in team scoring with 40 points, followed by the Los Angeles Mercurettes 38, San Diego Mission Belles 29, Nebraska Track Club and Sacramento Will's Spikettes each with 24.
